WELCOME

BIENVENUE / BOAS-VINDAS

ECAS 6 Welcome

It is my very great pleasure to welcome you to ECAS 2015 on behalf of the Board of AEGIS. The conference theme of "Collective Mobilisations in Africa: Contestation, Resistance, Revolt" offers ample scope to assess the social and political processes unfolding in Africa, as well as their profoundly ambiguous nature. While the Arab Spring symbolizes the transformative power of collective action, mob violence against 'foreigners' in South Africa represents the other side of the coin. The language of resistance has similarly lent itself to miners' actions in South Africa as well as to the justification of acts of terrorism in Kenya. It also infuses the language of neo-secessionist movements that seek to redraw the map of Africa. The question of who is being mobilised, against whom, to what end and to what effect are questions that will no doubt be hotly debated. As the crucible of our modern conception of citizenship, Paris provides the setting for the 6th European Conference on African Studies.

Although the pace of expansion has slowed, AEGIS continues to develop as a network. The ongoing economic turmoil in Europe is having its inevitable knock-on effects, which have been experienced in the form of cuts and mergers. Nevertheless, African Studies remains in robust health in Europe, and there are signs of expansion in some countries. AEGIS currently has thirty full members, two associated members and one affiliated member. In an attempt to promote closer co-operation within the network, we have forged ahead with the creation of new Collaborative Research Groups (CRGs) that are entitled to bid for conference funding. The CRGs, of which there are now six, provide us with the opportunity to develop a number of central axes of research and to reach out to individual Africanists who might not be located in member Centres. As the CRGs evolve, it is anticipated that our collaboration will deepen.

At Paris, I step down from the presidency of AEGIS and membership of the Board after 8 years. On a personal note, I would like to thank my fellow Board members for making it all worthwhile. I would also like to thank the organizers of ECAS 6, especially Kadya Tall, Pierre Boilley, Céline Thiriot, Véronique Lautier, Léonie Marin and IMAF and LAM teams, for all the work they have put into making this conference happen.

As you peruse the programme you are currently holding, I invite you to spare a thought for my predecessor, and eminent political scientist, Patrick Chabal, who passed away in 2014. He would surely have approved of the conference theme, and I am sure he will be amongst us in our deliberations. I take the opportunity to wish you a most rewarding conference, while hoping you will find some time to take in the many pleasures of the beautiful city of Paris.

BIENVENUE

BOAS-VINDAS / WELCOME

Bienvenue à l'ECAS 6

C'est avec le plus grand plaisir que je vous souhaite la bienvenue à l'ECAS 2015 au nom du bureau de l'AEGIS. Le thème de la conférence « Mobilisations collectives en Afrique: Contestations, résistances et révoltes » offre un vaste choix pour évaluer les processus sociaux et politiques qui se déploient en Afrique, ainsi que leur nature profondément ambiguë. Alors que les printemps arabes symbolisent le pouvoir de transformation de l'action collective, la violence populaire contre les « étrangers » en Afrique du Sud représente le revers de la médaille. Le langage de la résistance s'est aussi bien prêté aux actions des mineurs d'Afrique du Sud qu'à la justification des actes de terrorisme au Kenya. Il infuse également le langage des mouvements néo-sécessionnistes qui cherchent à redessiner la carte de l'Afrique. Qui se mobilise, contre qui, dans quels buts et pour quels effets? Ces questions seront sans aucun doute, vivement débattues. Paris, creuset de notre conception moderne de la citoyenneté, fournit le cadre idéal pour la Sixième Conférence européenne des études africaines.

Malgré le ralentissement de son expansion, le réseau de l'AEGIS continue de se développer. La crise économique en Europe a d'inévitables effets collatéraux comme les coupes budgétaires et les fusions. Cependant, les études africaines y demeurent en bonne santé, et se développent même dans certains pays. L'AEGIS compte actuellement trente membres à part entière, deux membres associés et un membre affilié. Pour promouvoir une coopération plus étroite au sein du réseau, nous avons créé de nouveaux Groupes de recherche collaboratifs (CRG) qui ont la possibilité de demander des financements pour organiser des conférences. Les CRG, maintenant au nombre de six, nous fournissent l'occasion de développer un certain nombre d'axes de recherche fondamentaux et d'intéresser ainsi des africanistes non affiliés aux centres membres du réseau. Au fur et à mesure de l'évolution des CRG, nous espérons que notre collaboration se consolidera.

À Paris, je laisserai la présidence de l'AEGIS et ne serai plus membre du bureau, après huit ans d'activités en son sein. De manière plus personnelle, j'aimerais remercier mes collègues du Bureau pour avoir fait de cette expérience une aventure qui en valait vraiment la peine. J'aimerais également remercier les organisateurs de l'ECAS 6, plus particulièrement Kadya Tall, Pierre Boilley, Céline Thiriot, Véronique Lautier, Léonie Marin et les équipes de l'IMAF et de LAM pour le travail effectué pour que cette conférence ait lieu.

Pendant que vous parcourez ce programme, je vous invite à avoir une pensée pour mon prédécesseur, l'éminent chercheur en science politique, Patrick Chabal, décédé en 2014. Il aurait certainement approuvé le thème de la conférence et je suis certain qu'il sera parmi nous pendant nos débats. Je profite de l'occasion pour vous souhaiter une conférence des plus fécondes, tout en espérant que vous trouverez le temps de profiter des nombreux plaisirs qu'offre la belle ville de Paris.

BOAS-VINDAS

WELCOME / BIENVENUE

Boas vindas à 6ª ECAS

É com muito prazer que desejo-lhes as melhores boas vindas em nome do Bureau do AEGIS nesta ECAS 2015. O tema da Conferência "Mobilizações coletivas em África: contestação, resistência, revolta", oferece uma campo alargado para avaliar os processos sociais e políticos em curso em África, bem como sua ambiguidade intrínseca. Enquanto a Primavera Árabe simboliza o poder transformativo da ação coletiva, a violência de massa contra "estrangeiros" na África do Sul representa a outra face da moeda. Se o discurso da resistência presta-se bem as ações dos mineiros sul-africanos, ele pode no entanto justificar atos de terrorismo no Quênia. Ele pode também inspirar a linguagem de movimentos neo-separatistas que procuram redesenhar o mapa da África. A questão de quem está sendo mobilizado, contra quem, por que fim e com que efeitos são perguntas que serão, com certeza, acaloradamente debatidas. Caldo da nossa concepção moderna da cidadania, Paris oferece assim o lugar para o 6º Congresso europeu de estudos africanos.

Embora o ritmo de expansão abrandou, AEGIS continua desenvolvendo-se como rede. A crise em curso na Europa tem os seus inevitáveis efeitos, sob forma de cortes e fusões. No entanto, os Estudos africanos mantêm-se com saúde robusta na Europa e há signos de expansão em alguns países. AEGIS tem atualmente trinta membros de pleno direito, dois membros associados e um membro afiliado. Na tentativa de promover uma cooperação mais estreita dentro da rede, foi-se mais longe com a criação dos Grupos de Pesquisa em Cooperação (CRG) que podem submeter pedidos de fundos. Os CRGs, de que hoje há seis, fornecem a oportunidade de desenvolver vários eixos centrais de pesquisa e de atingir pesquisadores individuais que podem não estar trabalhando em Centros membros. A par da evolução dos CRGs, pode-se esperar o aprofundamento da nossa cooperação.

Em Paris, vou deixar a presidência do AEGIS e a pertença ao Bureau após oito anos. Permitam-me agradecer meus companheiros do Bureau por terem contribuído para que tudo decorresse bem. Queria também agradecer os organizadores do 6º Congresso, especialmente Kadya Tall, Pierre Boilley, Céline Thiriot, Véronique Lautier, Léonie Marin and IMAF and LAM team por todo o trabalho que eles tiveram de realizar para a materialização desta conferência.

Enquanto consultam o programa que têm em vossas mãos, queria convidá-los a partilhar um pensamento para com o meu antecessor e conceituado cientista político, Patrick Chabal, que morreu em 2014. Com certeza, ele teria aprovado o tema da conferência e fico com a certeza que ele estará conosco durante os debates. Desejo-lhes uma conferência muito enriquecedora, enquanto espero que encontrarão algum tempo para aproveitar os inúmeros prazeres desta bela cidade de Paris.

AN APPRECIATION OF THE LIFE OF PATRICK CHABAL (1951-2014)
FROM THE AEGIS BOARD AND ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Board and Advisory Council of AEGIS mourn the passing of Patrick Chabal and extend their profound sympathy to family, especially Farzana and Emile, and friends alike. The fact that AEGIS is such a vibrant community today owes a great deal to the inspired vision of Patrick. Under his leadership, AEGIS was transformed from a club, representing a handful of Centres, to a veritable alliance of Centres across Europe. Although the success of AEGIS still lays in the interpersonal dynamics between a circle of friends, the structures of the network had to adjust to take account of exponential growth. Under Patrick's watch, and driven in association with his close friends Alessandro Triulzi and Gerti Hesseling, the AEGIS summer schools, the biannual thematic conferences and the publications series with Brill became the lifeblood of the network. A greater achievement still was the launching of the European Conferences on African Studies (ECAS) in 2005 after years of being under discussion. When Patrick retired from the Board in 2008, he left AEGIS in excellent shape. And despite his own poor health over the past couple of years, Patrick continued to be active in the network through his contribution to the Advisory Council.

As a scholar, Patrick's made an impact on the field that most can only dream of. His biography of Amílcar Cabral and the liberation war in Guinea-Bissau (1983) remains unsurpassed. Influential contributions to the study of African politics followed, with the edited collection, Political Domination in Africa (1986) and a later monograph entitled Power in Africa: An Essay in Political Interpretation (1993). His collaboration with Jean-Pascal Daloz, Africa Works: Disorder as Political Instrument (1999), defined a field and became one of the most influential books on Africa of the last quarter century. His last foray into the study of African politics was Africa: The Politics of Suffering and Smiling (2009). In his final years, Patrick tackled some of the larger questions of the intersection of culture and power, with (co-author J.P. Daloz) Culture Troubles: Politics and the Interpretation of Meaning (2006) and most recently The End of Conceit: Western Rationality After Postcolonialism (2012). Crucially, these were not intended for exclusively Africanist audiences. Patrick was often impatient with what he saw as the cult of narrow empiricism and felt it was his responsibility as a scholar to make larger statements, even if these were not always to his readers' liking. This willingness to expose himself to the scrutiny and critique of his peers was wonderfully exemplified by the debate over The Politics of Suffering and Smiling, which was held at ECAS 3 in Leipzig in 2009 and subsequently published in the pages of Critical African Studies.

Patrick was instrumental in creating the Gerti Hesseling Prize in honour of another great servant to AEGIS and African Studies more generally. It brings with great sadness to note that Patrick succumbed to the very same illness as his very good friend, Gerti. Together, they will be remembered as visionaries who launched African Studies in Europe as a serious intellectual project. At the same time, Patrick's contribution reminds us of the manifold pleasures that go with enacting this kind of transnational cooperation. We remain forever in his debt.

HOMMAGE À PATRICK CHABAL (1951-2014)
PAR LE BUREAU ET LE CONSEIL CONSULTATIF DE L'AEGIS

Le Bureau et le Conseil consultatif de l'AEGIS déplorent profondément la perte de Patrick Chabal et témoignent leur plus profonde sympathie à sa famille, en particulier Farzana et Émile, ainsi qu'à ses amis. Le fait que l'AEGIS soit une communauté aussi animée aujourd'hui doit beaucoup à l'esprit visionnaire de Patrick. Sous sa direction, l'AEGIS, au départ un club d'une poignée de centres de recherche, s'est transformé en un véritable réseau de centres dans toute l'Europe. Bien que son succès repose encore sur les dynamiques interpersonnelles d'un cercle d'amis, ses structures ont dû s'adapter à une croissance exponentielle. Sous la vigilance de Patrick et en co-direction avec ses amis proches Alessandro Triulzi et Gerti Hesseling, les écoles d'été de l'AEGIS, les conférences thématiques biannuelles et la collection de livres chez Brill ont fait vivre le réseau. Une des plus grandes réussites a été le lancement des Congrès européens d'études africaines (ECAS) avec leur première édition en 2005 après des années de discussion. Lorsque Patrick s'est retiré du Bureau en 2008, il a laissé l'AEGIS en pleine forme. Et, malgré ses problèmes de santé ces dernières années, il a continué à être actif dans le réseau au sein du Conseil consultatif.

Patrick a été un chercheur dont l'impact dans son domaine peut faire rêver beaucoup. Sa biographie d'Amílcar Cabral et sur la guerre de libération en Guinée-Bissau (1983) demeure à ce jour inégalée. Des contributions importantes pour l'analyse politique de l'Afrique suivirent, avec l'édition du livre collectif Political Domination in Africa (1986) et plus tard d'une monographie intitulée Power in Africa: An Essay in Political Interpretation (1993). Le fruit de sa collaboration avec Jean-Pascal Daloz, L'Afrique est partie: du désordre comme instrument politique (1999), a défini un champ d'étude et est devenu un des livres les plus influents sur l'Afrique dans le dernier quart du XX^e siècle. Sa dernière incursion dans l'étude de la politique en Afrique fut Africa: The Politics of Suffering and Smiling (2009). Dans ses dernières années, Patrick s'est attaqué à certaines questions plus larges relatives à l'intersection entre culture et pouvoir avec comme co-auteur J.-P. Daloz, Culture Troubles: Politics and the Interpretation of Meaning (2006) et plus récemment The End of Conceit: Western Rationality After Postcolonialism (2012). Très explicitement, ces travaux n'étaient pas destinés exclusivement à des audiences africanistes. Patrick était souvent agacé par ce qu'il considérait comme le culte d'un empirisme étroit et considérait comme de sa responsabilité d'universitaire d'affirmer certaines positions même si ce n'était pas toujours pour plaire à ses lecteurs. Sa disposition à se placer lui-même sous le feu de la critique de ses pairs fut merveilleusement illustrée lors du débat sur The Politics of Suffering and Smiling tenu au 3^e Congrès européen d'études africaines à Leipzig en 2009, ensuite publié dans les pages de Critical African Studies.

Patrick a eu un rôle décisif dans la création du Prix Gerti Hesseling en l'honneur d'une autre grande animatrice de l'AEGIS et des études africaines en général. Il est très triste de constater qu'il a été emporté par la même maladie que sa grande amie, Gerti. On se souviendra d'eux comme de visionnaires qui ont grandement contribué à faire des études africaines en Europe un projet intellectuel conséquent. Parallèlement, la contribution de Patrick nous rappellera les satisfactions multiples qu'apporte la pratique d'une telle coopération transnationale. Nous lui restons à jamais redevables.

HOMENAGEM A PATRICK CHABAL (1951-2014)

PELO BUREAU E O CONSELHO CONSULTIVO DO AEGIS

O Bureau e o Conselho consultivo do AEGIS lamentam imensamente a perda de Patrick Chabal e querem testemunhar a mais profunda simpatia à sua família, em particular Farzana e Émile, bem como aos seus amigos. O fato do AEGIS ser hoje em dia uma tão animada comunidade deve-se muito ao espírito visionário do Patrick. Sob a sua liderança, o AEGIS que foi nos princípios um clube de um punhado de centros, atualmente, tornou-se numa verdadeira rede de centros por toda Europa. Embora o seu sucesso ainda esteja baseado em dinâmicas interpessoais de um círculo de amigos, as suas estruturas tiveram que se adaptarem a um crescimento exponencial. Sob a vigilância de Patrick e em co-organização com os seus amigos mais próximos, como Alessandro Triulzi e Gerti Hesselning, as Escolas de Verão do AEGIS, as conferências temáticas bianuais e a série de livros da editora Brill fizeram a rede viver. Um dos maiores sucessos foi o lançamento das Conferências Europeias de Estudos Africanos (ECAS), que tiveram a primeira sessão em 2005 depois de muitos anos de discussão. Quando Patrick deixou o bureau em 2008, AEGIS estava já em óptimo estado. Apesar dos seus problemas de saúde nesses últimos anos, continuou ativo na rede e no seio do Conselho consultivo.

Patrick foi um pesquisador cujo impacto em seu domínio pode pôr as pessoas a sonharem. A obra dele sobre a biografia de Amílcar Cabral e a guerra de libertação na Guiné-Bissau (1983) fica insuperável. Seguiram-se depois contribuições importantes para a análise política da África, com a edição do livro coletivo Political Domination in Africa (1986) e mais tarde duma monografia intitulada Power in Africa: An Essay in Political Interpretation (1993). Sua obra em co-autoria com Jean-Pascal Daloz, publicada simultaneamente em francês LAfrique est partie: du désordre comme instrument politique e em inglês Africa Works: Disorder as Political Instrument (1999), definiu um campo de estudos e se tornou um dos livros mais influentes sobre África no último quarto do século XX. A sua última incursão no estudo da política em África foi Africa: The Politics of Suffering and Smiling (2009). Nos seus últimos anos, Patrick confrontou-se com algumas questões mais largas relativas à interseção entre a cultura e o poder, com o livro, ainda em coautoria com J.-P. Daloz, Culture Troubles: Politics and the Interpretation of Meaning (2006) e mais recentemente The End of Conceit: Western Rationality After Postcolonialism (2012). Muito explicitamente, os trabalhos dele não eram somente destinados à públicos africanistas. Patrick ficava as vezes irritado pelo que ele considerava de culto à um empiricismo estreito e considerava de sua responsabilidade como académico tomar algumas posições mesmo que não fossem do agrado dos seus leitores. A disposição em se colocar ele próprio de baixo do fogo da crítica dos pares foi lindamente ilustrada no debate sobre The Politics of Suffering and Smiling aquando da 3ª Conferência Europeia de estudos africanos em Leipzig em 2003, depois publicado nas páginas de Critical African Studies.

Patrick teve um papel decisivo na criação do Prémio Gerti Hesselning em homenagem à outra grande animadora do AEGIS e dos estudos africanos em geral. É muito triste constatar que morreu exatamente da mesma doença que levou sua grande amiga, Gerti. Lembrar-nos-emos de ambos como visionários que grandemente contribuíram para fazer dos estudos africanos na Europa um projeto intelectual relevante. Paralelamente, a contribuição do Patrick nos fará lembrar as satisfações múltiplas que oferece a prática da cooperação transnacional. Ficamos, para com ele, com uma grande dívida.

GERTI HESSELING PRIZE

PRIX GERTI HESSELING / PRÊMIO GERTI HESSELING

Gerti Hesselning (1946-2009) was a legal anthropologist at the African Studies Centre Leiden for nearly thirty years. As a scholar, Gerti Hesselning combined an interest in macro-level research on constitutional affairs and, with issues such as land rights and access to land on a micro level. Her research covered all of the Sahel, but Senegal held a special place in her heart. In the early 1990s she was seconded to the Club du Sahel, where she coordinated a large multidisciplinary research project looking into the relationship between land rights and sustainable development, gaining the respect of many of her African colleagues.

She was one of the founders of AEGIS. At the opening of the ECAS 3 conference in Leipzig, Patrick Chabal and Alessandro Triulzi - with whom she shared many years of intellectual inspiration and joyful friendship as board members of AEGIS - commemorated Gerti's significance to AEGIS as follows:

"On 21 June 1999, Gerti went before a notary in Amsterdam and lodged the deed that established Stitching AEGIS as a Foundation in the Netherlands. On that day our network acquired a legal existence, which made it possible to institutionalise what had originally been an informal grouping of close colleagues from a few African Studies Centres".

To honour the memory of a scientist so committed with Africa scholarship, the AEGIS Board decided in its 2009 annual meeting that a Gerti Hesselning Prize would be established to promote the work of African scholars and that the most suitable way would be to seek nominations by AEGIS centres and European-based African Studies journals — including AEGIS centres journals — for the best contribution to a European African Studies journal by a younger African scholar.

At Uppsala, the prize was awarded to Kojo Amanor of the University of Ghana. In 2013, the recipient of the prize has been Olufunke Adebayo of the University of Lagos for an article published in the Journal of Religion in Africa. In 2015, the winner is Manase Chiweshe (Institution of Lifelong Learning, Chinhoyi University of Technology, Chinhoyi, Mashonaland West, Zimbabwe) for his article published in 2014 in the journal Critical African Studies. The article is entitled: "One of the boys: female fans' responses to the masculine and phallogocentric nature of football stadiums in Zimbabwe".

PRIX GERTI HESSELING

PRÊMIO GERTI HESSELING / GERTI HESSELING PRIZE

Gerti Hesselning (1946-2009) était une anthropologue du droit rattachée au Centre d'études africaines de Leyde durant près de trente ans. Gerti était une chercheuse qui combinait un intérêt pour les affaires constitutionnelles au niveau macro, et pour les questions de droits et d'accès à la terre au niveau micro. Ses travaux couvraient tout le Sahel, mais le Sénégal tenait une place particulière dans son cœur. Au début des années 1990, elle a été détachée au Club du Sahel, où elle a coordonné un grand projet multidisciplinaire sur les relations entre les droits à la terre et le développement durable, ce qui lui a gagné le respect de nombreux collègues africains.

Elle a été l'un des fondateurs de l'AEGIS. À l'ouverture de la 3^e Conférence européenne d'études africaines à Leipzig, Patrick Chabal et Alessandro Truilzi – avec qui elle a partagé de nombreuses années d'inspiration intellectuelle et d'amitié joyeuse au sein du bureau de l'AEGIS – ont évoqué l'importance de Gerti dans le réseau de la manière suivante :

« Le 21 juin 1999, Gerti s'est rendue chez un notaire à Amsterdam pour déposer le titre qui établissait l'AEGIS comme une Fondation aux Pays Bas. Ce jour-là notre réseau a acquis une existence juridique qui a permis d'institutionnaliser ce qui avait été au départ un groupe informel de collègues proches appartenant à quelques centres d'études africaines ».

Pour honorer la mémoire d'une chercheuse tellement engagée dans la recherche en Afrique, le bureau de l'AEGIS a décidé lors de sa réunion annuelle en 2009 d'instituer un prix Gerti Hesselning pour promouvoir le travail des chercheurs africains, en sollicitant des propositions de candidats auprès des centres de l'AEGIS et des revues d'études africaines en Europe, dont les revues des centres de l'AEGIS, pour désigner le meilleur article écrit par un jeune chercheur africain dans une revue européenne d'études africaines.

À Uppsala, le prix a récompensé Kojo Amanor de l'Université du Ghana. En 2013, ce fut Olufunke Adebayo de l'Université de Lagos qui a été récompensé pour un article publié dans le Journal of Religion in Africa. Le chercheur vainqueur pour l'année 2015 est Manase Chiweshe (Institution of Lifelong Learning, Université de Technologie de Chinhoyi, Chinhoyi, Mashonaland West, Zimbabwe) pour son article publié en 2014 dans la revue Critical African Studies et intitulé : « One of the boys: female fans' responses to the masculine and phallogocentric nature of football stadiums in Zimbabwe » (L'une des garçons : les réponses des fans féminines à la nature masculine et phallogocrate des stades de football au Zimbabwe).

Gerti Hesselning (1946-2009) foi uma antropóloga jurídica no Centro de Estudos Africanos em Leiden durante quase trinta anos. Gerti era uma pesquisadora que combinava um interesse ao nível macro para questões relacionadas com a Constituição e ao nível micro para os direitos e acessos a terra. Os seus trabalhos abrangiam o Sahel todo, mas o Senegal tinha um lugar especial no seu coração. No início dos anos 1990, ela foi transferida para Clube do Sahel onde coordenou um grande projeto multidisciplinar sobre as relações entre os direitos à terra e o desenvolvimento sustentável, o que fez com que ela ganhasse o respeito de muitos dos seus colegas africanos.

Ela foi um dos membros fundadores da AEGIS. Durante a abertura da terceira conferência ECAS em Leipzig, Patrick Chabal e Alessandro Truilzi – com quem ela compartilhou inúmeros anos de inspiração intelectual e de amizade alegre no conselho da AEGIS, evocaram a importância significativa da Gerti dentro da rede AEGIS da seguinte maneira:

“no dia 21 de junho de 1999, Gerti foi ao um cartório de notário para registrar o título que estabeleceu AEGIS como uma fundação dos Países Baixos. Neste dia, a nossa rede adquiriu uma existência jurídica que permitiu institucionalizar o que era, no início, um grupo informal de colegas próximos pertencentes à uns centros de estudos africanos.”

Para honrar a memória de uma acadêmica tão dedicada a pesquisa na África, o conselho da AEGIS decidiu durante seu encontro anual de 2009 consagrar um prêmio anual ao nome de Gerti Hesselning a fim de promover o trabalho de acadêmicos africanos e, refletindo sobre a melhor maneira de fazer isso, decidiram fazer participar à designação do melhor artigo escrito por um jovem estudioso africano numa revista europeia de estudos africanos, nos centros europeus de estudos africanos e nas revistas europeias de estudos africanos inclusive nas revistas dos centros do AEGIS.

Em Uppsala, o prêmio foi para Kojo Amanor da Universidade de Gana. Em 2013, foi Olufunke Adebayo da Universidade de Lagos que foi nomeado por um artigo publicado na revista Journal of Religion in Africa. O acadêmico vencedor em 2015 é Manase Chiweshe (Institution of Lifelong Learning, Universidade de Tecnologia de Chinhoyi, Chinhoyi, Mashonaland West, Zimbabwe) por um artigo publicado em 2014 na revista Critical African Studies e intitulado: “One of the boys: female fans' responses to the masculine and phallogocentric nature of football stadiums in Zimbabwe” (Uma dos garotos: as respostas das torcedoras fêmeas à natureza masculina e com machismo dos estádios de futebol em Zimbabwe).

WORD FROM THE ORGANISERS

LE MOT DES ORGANISATEURS / UMA PALAVRA DOS ORGANIZADORES

Welcome to Paris!

The African Worlds Institute (IMAF) and Africas in the World (LAM) are delighted to host in Paris, from 8 to 10 July 2015, the African European Group for Interdisciplinary Studies (AEGIS) 6th European Conference on African Studies (ECAS 6).

This international and increasingly important event, which attracts scholars from around the world, is living proof of the vitality of African studies and of the rapid pace at which they are developing. Many thanks are due to the founders of AEGIS – among which France's African Studies Centre (CEAN) – for their decision, some years back, to begin creating links between Europe's main Africa research institutes. Tremendous ground has been covered since this process first began in 1991. Every year, new centers join up, resulting in increasingly effective networks of exchange. In this sense, AEGIS plays a dual role: it contributes significantly to knowledge production about Africa and creates synergies within Europe.

The theme of the conference, "Collective Mobilizations in Africa: Contestation, Resistance, Revolt" and the answers put forward in response to this, underscore the relevance of the AEGIS's objectives – in particular its focus on developing novel concepts and approaches to better understand contemporary transformations in Africa, as well as the historical roots thereof. The manifold panels on offer speak to the wealth and the quality of this work. They reflect tangible changes in the way Africa is perceived, described and analyzed. No longer can one speak of the continent as a singular entity, unchanging and somehow divorced from global flows. This conference provides a platform for reaffirming the fundamental importance of reflecting on Africa and its diasporas as spaces intimately linked to the world at large, in ways that eschew simplification, focusing instead on diversity and doing away once and for all with stereotypes, condescending clichés and all too common lapses into Afro-pessimism.

We are pleased that this year's ECAS is taking place in France, reflecting Europe-wide developments. Here as elsewhere – as evidenced by the birth of LAM in 2011 and that of IMAF in 2014 – research centers are merging and, in so doing, strengthening and increasing their international visibility. Like AEGIS, the African Studies Network of France (GIS), an entity of CNRS (the National Center for Scientific Research), is actively bringing together the humanities and the social sciences relating to the study of Africa. The regular, nationwide meetings that it holds provide an all-important space wherein ideas can be tested that will play a defining role in addressing the challenges facing Africa and Europe for years to come.

IMAF and LAM thus welcome the fact that the European Conference on African Studies is occurring here, at the Sorbonne, a centuries-old place of learning, where, in the 1960s, France's first African studies curriculum was established. In tandem with the conference's wealth of scientific debates, ECAS 2015 offers its participants a rich palette of cultural activities: Africa Acts, a weeklong event dedicated to performance arts from Africa and the Diaspora.

It is our honor to welcome you to France and to the Sorbonne and to share with you in the intensity and the depth of debates associated with this sixth edition of the European Conference on African Studies.

LE MOT DES ORGANISATEURS

UMA PALAVRA DOS ORGANIZADORES / WORD FROM THE ORGANISERS

Bienvenue à Paris !

L'Institut des mondes africains (IMAF) et Les Afriques dans le monde (LAM) sont très heureux de recevoir à Paris, du 8 au 10 juillet 2015, la 6^e Conférence des études africaines en Europe (ECAS 6) de l'African European Group for Interdisciplinary Studies (AEGIS).

Cette manifestation internationale, de plus en plus importante, et suivie au-delà de l'Europe par des chercheurs de tous les continents, témoigne brillamment de la vitalité des études africaines et de leur structuration en progrès rapide. On ne peut que remercier les fondateurs de l'AEGIS – dont en France le CEAN – de l'intuition qu'ils ont eue il y a quelques années en commençant à relier les centres de recherche européens travaillant sur l'Afrique. Que de chemin parcouru depuis 1991 et la naissance de ce réseau d'excellence ! Des centres de plus en plus nombreux adhèrent chaque année, et les liens entre eux s'approfondissent constamment. En ce sens, si l'AEGIS contribue fortement à la compréhension du continent africain par le partage des analyses croisées et pluridisciplinaires de tous ses chercheurs, on ne peut que se féliciter aussi de la multiplication des rapports qu'il permet de tisser entre citoyens d'un autre continent, l'Europe.

Le thème de la conférence, « Mobilisations collectives en Afrique. Contestations, résistances et révoltes », et les réponses qui seront apportées par chacun, montrent à l'envi combien les objectifs du réseau sont présents, notamment celui de l'émergence de nouveaux concepts et thèmes de recherche, afin de mieux saisir les changements contemporains en Afrique et leurs racines historiques. La longue liste des ateliers proposés lors de ces trois jours témoigne de la qualité et de la variété des recherches menées. En ce sens, les évolutions des perceptions, des descriptions et des analyses des réalités africaines sont tangibles. La vision du continent a changé, et l'on ne peut plus parler comme avant d'un espace unique, figé et loin de la mondialisation en cours. Cette conférence permet de réaffirmer l'importance de réfléchir sur cet espace et ses diasporas, sans le couper du reste du monde, et, loin d'en avoir une vision globalisante et uniforme, montrer la diversité des Afriques, hors des stéréotypes, des clichés condescendants ou d'un afro-pessimisme trop répandu.

Nous nous félicitons que l'ECAS se tienne en France, en un moment où l'évolution des études africaines suit dans ce pays le même chemin qu'en Europe. À l'image de la création de LAM en 2011 et de l'IMAF en 2014, les laboratoires se regroupent, se renforcent et accroissent leur visibilité internationale. Le réseau des études africaines françaises – le GIS Études africaines du CNRS –, sur le même mode que l'AEGIS, commence à fédérer efficacement les recherches sur les Afriques dans toutes les disciplines des sciences humaines et sociales. Il permet, par des rencontres régulières au niveau national, que soit affirmée de plus en plus haut l'importance d'étudier un espace où se lancent et se lanceront les nombreux défis des prochaines décennies, tout autant pour l'Afrique que pour la France, l'Europe et le monde.

L'IMAF et LAM ne peuvent donc que se féliciter d'organiser en un tel moment ces rencontres européennes, et dans un tel lieu, la Sorbonne, symbole de l'université, de ses enseignements et de ses recherches, une si vieille université qui pourtant, dans sa vitalité toujours renouvelée, a été la première en France, dans les années 1960, à établir une spécialité académique sur l'Afrique.

En synergie avec les débats scientifiques de la conférence, c'est de plus toute une programmation culturelle très riche sur les Afriques que nous vous proposons dans divers lieux de Paris, Africa Acts, autant d'expositions, de concerts, de films, de spectacles et de performances pour nous permettre de continuer à penser les Afriques autrement !

Bienvenue en France, à Paris, à la Sorbonne, et soyons sûrs de l'intensité et de la profondeur des débats de cette 6^e édition des rencontres européennes des études africaines !

UMA PALAVRA DOS ORGANIZADORES

WORD FROM THE ORGANISERS / LE MOT DES ORGANISATEURS

Boas vindas a Paris !

O Instituto dos Mundos Africanos (IMAF) e o centro “As Áfricas no Mundo” (LAM) estão muito felizes em recebê-los em Paris, de 8 a 10 de Julho de 2015, para a 6ª Conferência de estudos africanos na Europa (ECAS 6) do African European Group for Interdisciplinary Studies (AEGIS). Este evento internacional de grande importância, que não se limita apenas aos pesquisadores do espaço europeu, incluindo assim investigadores de outros continentes, testemunha com brilho a vitalidade dos estudos africanos e da sua rápida estruturação. Agradece-se aos fundadores da rede AEGIS – entre os quais, em França, o CEAN (antecessor de LAM) – pela intuição que tiveram, anos atrás, quando começaram a interligar os centros europeus de pesquisa que trabalhavam sobre África. Desde 1991, data do seu nascimento, esta rede, de excelência, percorreu um grande caminho! Numerosos centros se juntam todos os anos e os laços se fortalecem sem parar. Neste sentido, se a rede AEGIS contribui fortemente para a compreensão do continente africano, mercê da partilha das análises cruzadas e pluridisciplinares de todos os pesquisadores, deve-se também felicitar a multiplicação das relações que a rede permite tecer entre cidadãos de um outro continente, a Europa.

O tema da conferência, « Mobilizações coletivas em África. Contestações, resistências e revoltas », e as respostas que serão trazidas por cada um, mostram sem dúvida o quão os objetivos da rede estão presentes ; nomeadamente o da emergência de novos conceitos e temas de pesquisa, o que permitirá uma melhor apreensão das mudanças contemporâneas em África e as suas raízes históricas. A lista comprida dos painéis propostos durante esses três dias comprova a qualidade e a variedade das pesquisas desenvolvidas. Neste sentido, as evoluções das percepções, das descrições e das análises das realidades africanas são palpáveis. A visão do continente mudou e não se pode falar como antigamente de um espaço único, congelado e longe da mundialização em curso. Esta conferência permite reafirmar a importância de pensar sobre este espaço e suas diásporas, sem cortá-lo do resto do mundo e, longe de qualquer visão globalizante e uniforme, permite comprovar as diversidades das Áfricas fora dos estereótipos, dos lugares-comuns paternalistas ou de um afro-pessimismo ainda prevalente. Felicitamo-nos pelo facto de a reunião se realizar em França, num momento em que a evolução dos estudos africanos segue nela o mesmo caminho que no resto da Europa. À imagem da criação por fusões, de LAM em 2011 e do IMAF em 2014, os centros de pesquisa reagrupam-se, fortalecem-se e aumentam a sua visibilidade internacional. A rede francesa de estudos africanos – O “GIS Études africaines” do CNRS –, segue os passos da rede AEGIS, articulando eficazmente as pesquisas sobre África em todas as disciplinas de ciências humanas e sociais. Ela permita, mercê de encontros regulares ao nível nacional, afirmar importância de estudar um espaço onde se lançam e lançarão os numerosos desafios das próximas décadas, tanto para a África assim como para a França, a Europa e o mundo.

O IMAF e LAM não podem senão se felicitem por organizar neste momento este encontro europeu, sobretudo num lugar como a Sorbonne, símbolo da Universidade, do ensino e da pesquisa; uma universidade tão velha que, no entanto, na sua vitalidade sempre renovada, foi a primeira, nos anos sessenta, a estabelecer uma especialidade académica sobre a África. Em sinergia com os debates científicos da conferência, encontrar-se-á uma vastíssima programação cultural sobre as Áfricas – Africa Acts –, que propomos em diversos lugares de Paris: inúmeras exposições, concertos, filmes, espetáculos e atuações para que continuemos a pensar a África de outra maneira!

Boas-vindas à França, a Paris, na Sorbonne, e sejamos certos da intensidade e da profundidade dos debates desta 6ª edição dos encontros europeus de estudos africanos.

Africas in the Word / As Áfricas no mundo
<http://www.lam.sciencespobordeaux.fr>

Héritier de l'ancien Centre d'étude d'Afrique noire (CEAN), membre fondateur du réseau de l'AEGIS pour la France, LAM (UMR 5115) est un centre de référence en Europe pour les études africaines. Basé à Bordeaux et Pau, LAM est rattaché au Centre national de la recherche scientifique (CNRS) et à Science Po Bordeaux, affilié à la Fondation nationale des sciences politiques, et associé aux Universités de Bordeaux (UB), Bordeaux Montaigne (UBM) et de Pau et des Pays de l'Adour (UPPA). Son périmètre de recherche englobe l'ensemble du continent africain, la Caraïbe, les sociétés issues de la traite et les diasporas noires. LAM interroge la globalisation à partir des Afriques dans une approche comparatiste et transversale. Il s'intéresse aux questions relatives au politique, à ses expressions et productions. Pôle de recherche et d'enseignement pluridisciplinaire d'envergure reconnu internationalement, il regroupe des politistes, anthropologues, économistes, géographes, historiens et littéraires. LAM porte quatre parcours de master à Sciences Po Bordeaux, l'UB et l'UBM. Ses membres participent aux principales revues françaises sur les Afriques et les Suds, dont Politique africaine, et à un blog de décryptage des événements qui font l'actualité dans les Afriques, <http://lamenparle.hypotheses.org>. LAM partage son expertise avec les entreprises, institutions de coopération, associations culturelles et ONG travaillant avec et dans les Afriques, notamment au sein de l'Institut des Afriques (IDAF) en région Aquitaine.

Following in the footsteps of the former African Studies Center (CEAN), LAM (UMR 5115) founding member of AEGIS for France, is a key center for African studies in Europe. Located in Bordeaux and Pau, its parent institutions are the CNRS and Sciences Po Bordeaux. The center is affiliated with the National Foundation of Political Sciences and is associated with the universities of Bordeaux (UB), Bordeaux Montaigne (UBM) and Pau and Pays de l'Adour (UPPA). LAM's permanent research team includes political scientists, anthropologists, economists, geographers, historians and literary experts. Its areas of research include the entire African continent, the Caribbean, societies stemming from slave trade, and the Diaspora more broadly. LAM examines globalization from African countries in a comparative approach. Researchers focus on politics in its various expressions and productions. LAM oversees four Master's degree courses at Sciences Po Bordeaux, UB and UBM. LAM's researchers participate in the most important French journals on Africa and the global South, such as Politique africaine, and host a blog analyzing contemporary African events, <http://lamenparle.hypotheses.org>. LAM has developed a fruitful partnership with the Africa Institute (IDAF) in the Aquitaine region, along with many Africa-oriented enterprises, NGOs, cultural associations, and agencies.

Sucessor do Centro de estudos da África negra, é membro fundador para a França da rede AEGIS, LAM (UMR 5115) é um centro de referência na Europa nos estudos africanos. Baseado em Bordéus e Pau, LAM é um centro reconhecido pelo CNRS e Sciences Po Bordeaux, filiado à Fundação Nacional de Ciências Políticas e está associado às universidades de Bordeaux (UB), de Bordeaux-Montaigne (UBM) e de Pau et des Pays de l'Adour (UPPA).

A pesquisa de LAM engloba todo o continente africano, as Caraíbas, as sociedades oriundas do tráfico de escravos e as diásporas negras. LAM questiona a globalização a partir das Áfricas numa abordagem comparativa e transversal. Interessa-se por questões relativas ao político, e as suas expressões e produções. Polo de pesquisa e de ensino pluridisciplinar internacionalmente reconhecido, LAM congrega politólogos, antropólogos, economistas, geógrafos, historiadores e especialistas de literaturas.

LAM apoia quatro especialidades de mestrados em Sciences Po Bordeaux, na UB e na UBM. Seus membros participam nas principais revistas francesas sobre África e o Sul, como por exemplo Politique africaine, e animam um blogue de análise da atualidade nas Áfricas, <http://lamenparle.hypotheses.org>. LAM partilha as suas valências com associações culturais, empresas, instituições de cooperação e ONGs que trabalham com e nas Áfricas, nomeadamente no seio do Instituto das África (IdAf) na região da Aquitânia.

Institut des mondes africains (IMAF)

African Worlds Institute / Instituto dos Mundos Africanos
http://imaf.cnrs.fr

L'IMAF est l'un des plus grands centres européens de recherche sur l'Afrique et ses diasporas. Cette unité mixte de recherche (UMR 8171-243) interdisciplinaire (histoire, anthropologie, science politique, archéologie) est animée par une équipe d'une centaine de spécialistes, chercheurs et enseignants-chercheurs reconnus. Chercheurs de terrain dans de nombreux espaces du continent, leurs recherches s'ordonnent autour de plusieurs axes : fabrique et circulation des savoirs ; mondialisations africaines dans la longue durée et globalisation ; pouvoirs, espaces, mémoires ; dynamiques religieuses, représentations, expériences ; l'art du politique, le politique de l'Art ; genre, corps, subjectivités. L'IMAF mène ses recherches en sciences humaines sur l'ensemble des Afriques et de leurs diasporas, du Maghreb à l'Afrique méridionale, des Caraïbes au Proche-Orient. Il est un des rares laboratoires en France à travailler dans la longue durée, depuis l'étude des peintures rupestres jusqu'aux dynamiques les plus contemporaines. Outre de nombreuses publications de qualité attestant du dynamisme et de l'implication de ses membres, les chercheurs et enseignants de l'IMAF sont soucieux du transfert des savoirs et de la formation des étudiants inscrits en licence, master et doctorat. Plus de deux cent doctorants, jeunes docteurs et post-doctorants contribuent à la vitalité de l'unité. L'IMAF est également porteur du Groupement d'intérêt scientifique (GIS) « Études africaines en France », et membre de l'AEGIS. Lieu ouvert d'expertises partagées, ses membres n'hésitent pas à mettre leurs connaissances au service du plus grand nombre (pouvoirs publics, médias, conférences et vulgarisation). Entre savoirs, savoir-faire et ouverture, l'IMAF se positionne à la pointe de la recherche contemporaine.

IMAF is one of the Europe's main centers for the study of Africa and its diasporas. An interdisciplinary entity (history, anthropology, political science, archaeology), this mixed research unit (UMR 8171-243) is staffed by a team of some one hundred specialists – researchers and faculty-researchers – known for their mastery of the subjects they address.

Drawing on extensive fieldwork, the Institute's members conduct research on and around a key set of foci: the making and circulation of knowledge; long-term forms of globalization; power, space and memory; religious representations and experiences; the art of politics and the politics of art; and gender, bodies and subjectivities.

IMAF conducts research in the humanities across Africa and its diasporas, from the Maghreb to the southern reaches of the continent, the Caribbean and the Near East. It is one of the few scholarly entities in France to consider these many areas of the globe over the very long term, from the age of cave paintings to the immediate present. Alongside a rich publication record that attests to the dynamism and engagement of its members, IMAF's researchers and faculty are dedicated to sharing their knowledge with and helping to structure the studies of the Institute's many BA, Master's and Ph.D. students. Over two hundred doctoral candidates, recent Ph.Ds and post-doctoral researchers bring strength and vitality to its ranks.

In addition, IMAF is a member of AEGIS and the initiator of GIS (the African Studies Network of France), a research body dedicated to promoting African studies in France.

IMAF is an inclusive space of shared expertise whose members are keen to disseminate their knowledge across the social spectrum – to government institutions and the media and in colloquia aimed at both scholarly and mainstream audiences. Research-oriented, yet at the same time interested in practical matters and open to the world, IMAF stands at the forefront of contemporary engagement with Africa and its diasporas.

O IMAF é um dos maiores centros europeus de investigação sobre África e suas diásporas. Esta Unidade Mista de Pesquisa (UMR 8171-243) interdisciplinar (História, Antropologia, Ciências políticas, Arqueologia) é composta por uma equipa de uma centena de especialistas, investigadores e professores, reconhecidos pelas suas competências que desenvolvem trabalho de terreno em inúmeros espaços do continente. Os seus projetos desenvolvem-se em torno de vários eixos: fábrica e circulação dos saberes; mundializações africanas na longa duração e globalização; poder, espaços, memórias; dinâmicas religiosas, representações, experiências; arte do político, político do arte; género, corpo, subjetividades. O IMAF conduz as suas pesquisas em ciências humanas no conjunto das Áfricas e das suas diásporas, da África do Norte à África meridional, dos Caribes ao Médio Oriente. Trata-se de um dos poucos laboratórios em França que o faz na longa duração, começando pelo estudo das pinturas rupestres e indo até às dinâmicas mais contemporâneas. Além das suas inúmeras publicações de qualidade, que atestam do dinamismo e da implicação dos seus membros, os investigadores e professores do IMAF estão atentos à transmissão dos saberes e à formação dos estudantes inscritos na Licenciatura, Master e Doutorado. Mais de duzentos doutorandos, jovens doutores e pós-doutores contribuem para a sua vitalidade. O IMAF é também responsável pelo Grupo de Interesse Científico (GIS) "Estudos africanos em França" e membro do AEGIS. Sendo um espaço aberto para expertises partilhadas, os seus membros não hesitam em colocar os seus conhecimentos ao serviço da maioria (poderes públicos, medias, conferencias e vulgarização). Entre saberes, saber-fazer e abertura, o IMAF coloca-se na vanguarda da investigação contemporânea.

Mamoudou GAZIBO

Full Professor, Political Science
University of Montreal, Montreal, Quebec, Canada

Bio

Mamoudou Gazibo is a Professor of Political Science at the University of Montreal, Canada. He received his Ph.D. in 1998 from the University Bordeaux IV, France. His research focuses on comparative politics and African international relations, with an emphasis on democratization and China-Africa cooperation. He has authored, co-authored and edited eight books and nearly sixty articles and book chapters. He has provided his expertise to institutions such as the United Nations, the African Union, and the International Organization of Francophone Countries, as well as to individual governments in Africa. In 2010, he chaired the Niger Constitution Drafting Committee and served as special adviser to the Prime minister on institutional reform issues. For this work he was awarded the medal of Grand Officer of the National Order.

Collective mobilizations and democratization in Africa in comparative perspective

In the democratization literature, collective mobilizations are usually seen as the key variable explaining the wave of transitions in sub-Saharan Africa in the early nineties. A quarter century later, a new wave of protests has swept the continent from North to South. How can we interpret and compare these two waves? Why are some regimes more vulnerable to popular uprising than others? Do these revolts foster democratization on the continent and if not, why? Based on a comparative analysis of mass mobilizations in Africa and elsewhere, as well as on theoretical perspectives on the relation between mass mobilization and democratization in general, this presentation seeks to answer these questions and propose some generalizations about the subject under analysis.

Mamoudou Gazibo est professeur de Science politique à l'Université de Montréal au Canada. Il a obtenu son doctorat de Science politique en 1998, à l'Université Montesquieu, Bordeaux IV en France. Ses recherches sont axées sur la politique comparée et les relations internationales africaines avec un intérêt pour les processus de démocratisation et pour la coopération Chine-Afrique. Il est auteur, co-auteur et éditeur de huit ouvrages, plus de soixante articles et chapitres de livres. Il met son expertise au service d'organisations internationales comme l'Organisation des Nations unies, l'Union africaine, des pays de l'Organisation internationale de la Francophonie et des gouvernements africains. Conseiller spécial du Premier ministre nigérien sur les questions de réformes institutionnelles, Mamoudou Gazibo a présidé le comité de rédaction de la constitution et des textes fondamentaux du Niger lors du dernier changement de régime en 2010. Il est Grand Officier de l'ordre national du Niger.

Mobilisations collectives et démocratisation en Afrique dans une perspective comparative

Dans la littérature sur la démocratisation, les mobilisations collectives sont généralement considérées, comme la variable clef pour expliquer la vague de transitions en Afrique subsaharienne au début des années 90. Un quart de siècle plus tard, une nouvelle vague de protestations a balayé le continent du Nord au Sud. Comment pouvons-nous interpréter et comparer ces deux vagues? Pourquoi certains régimes politiques sont-ils plus vulnérables aux soulèvements populaires que d'autres? Ces révoltes populaires favorisent-elles la démocratisation sur le continent, et si non, pourquoi? Basée sur une analyse comparative des mobilisations de masse en Afrique et ailleurs, ainsi que sur les perspectives théoriques sur la relation mobilisations de masse et démocratisation en général, cette présentation vise à répondre à ces questions et à proposer des généralisations sur le sujet analysé.

Cheikh Ibrahima NIANG

Researcher at The Institute of Environmental Sciences, Faculty of Science and Technology and Professor at the University of Cheikh Anta Diop, Dakar, Senegal

Bio

The main background of Cheikh Ibrahima Niang is in Social Anthropology, Medical Anthropology, Sociology, Philosophy and Environmental Sciences. His recent experience in Ebola social research includes field research in Ebola epicenters in Guinea, Mali and Sierra

Leone. He also has completed several anthropological and gender studies on HIV/AIDS, sexuality, homosexuality, gender based violence and reproductive health in West and Central Africa. He served as temporary technical advisor for the WHO Ebola Science Committee and for WHO/AFRO Task Force on Immunization. He has realized numerous multi-sites studies on anthropological and social aspects of health issues sponsored by UN and International Agencies (UNDP, The World Bank, UNICEF, UNWOMEN, USAID, etc.)

Cultural Concepts of Freedom and Dignity in the Fabric of Community Resilience to the Outbreak of the Ebola Virus Disease in West Africa

Ebola is not only a virus that affects the body. It is also a shock that causes upheavals with multicultural, political and religious dimensions in the face of which societies, communities and families build dynamic forms of resilience drawing on their heritage and their cultural capital. This lecture will show how communities give appropriate answers to the Ebola outbreak in West Africa and mobilize cultural concepts of freedom and dignity. The results are based on anthropological fieldwork conducted in 2014-2015 in Sierra Leone, Mali and Guinea. The lecture concludes with the need to reintroduce cultural concepts of freedom and dignity, in contexts both of reflection and action, in order to bring new responses to health crises in Africa.

Cheikh Ibrahima NIANG

Chercheur à l'Institut des sciences de l'environnement, Faculté des Sciences et Techniques et professeur à l'Université Cheikh Anta Diop, Dakar, Sénégal

Biographie

Les principaux domaines d'étude de Cheikh Ibrahima Niang sont l'anthropologie sociale, l'anthropologie médicale, la sociologie, la philosophie et les sciences de l'environnement. Ses récentes expériences professionnelles relèvent de l'anthropologie sociale et médicale. Ses recherches sur Ebola incluent des études de terrain dans les épicentres d'Ebola en Guinée, au Mali et en Sierra Leone. Il a également effectué plusieurs études anthropologiques relatives au genre sur le VIH/sida, la sexualité, l'homosexualité, les violences genrées et la santé reproductive en Afrique occidentale et centrale. Il a été conseiller technique du Comité scientifique d'Ebola de l'OMS et de la Force opérationnelle de la vaccination de l'OMS/AFRO. Il a réalisé de nombreuses enquêtes multi-sites sur les aspects anthropologiques et sociaux des questions de santé, parrainés par l'ONU et d'autres organismes internationaux (PNUD, Banque mondiale, l'UNICEF, UNWOMEN, USAID, etc.)

Concepts culturels de liberté et de dignité dans la fabrique de la résilience communautaire à l'épidémie d'Ebola en Afrique de l'Ouest

Ebola n'est pas qu'un virus qui affecte les corps. Il s'agit également d'un choc qui conduit à des soulèvements sociaux aux multiples dimensions culturelles, politiques ou religieuses face auxquelles les sociétés, communautés et familles construisent des dynamiques de résilience, puisant au plus profond de leur patrimoine historique et de leur capital culturel. Sa conférence montrera comment les concepts culturels de liberté et de dignité ont été mobilisés par les communautés pour construire des réponses pertinentes face à l'épidémie d'Ebola en Afrique de l'Ouest. Pour ce faire, elle s'appuiera sur les résultats d'une recherche de terrain, de type anthropologique, menée dans le courant de l'année 2014-2015 en Sierra Leone, au Mali et en Guinée. Il apparaît in fine nécessaire de réintroduire les concepts culturels de liberté et de dignité dans la réflexion et l'action pour de nouvelles réponses aux crises sanitaires en Afrique.

Ousmane Oumar KANE

Professor, Contemporary Islamic Religion and Society
Harvard Divinity School, USA

Bio

Ousmane Kane joined Harvard Divinity School in July 2012 as the first Prince Alwaleed Bin Talal Professor of Contemporary Islamic Religion and Society. Kane studies the history of Islamic religious institutions and organizations since the eighteenth century, and he is engaged in documenting the intellectual history of Islam in Africa. Kane has also focused on the phenomenon of Muslim globalization. His book Homeland Is the Arena: Religion, Transnationalism and the Integration of Senegalese Immigrants in America (Oxford University Press, 2010) looks at the community of Senegalese immigrants to the United States in New York and the importance these immigrants assign to their religious communities for the organization of their lives. His other books include Muslim Modernity in Postcolonial Nigeria (Brill, 2003) and Timbuktu and Beyond: Rethinking African Intellectual History, forthcoming from Harvard University Press.

Islamic Education in West Africa: the Past and the Present

Most people worldwide will have heard about Timbuktu as a centre of learning where thousands of Arabic manuscripts have been preserved. During the French counter-offensive to halt the expansion of Islamists in Mali, some of these manuscripts were destroyed. But few people know that Timbuktu was only one of many centres of Islamic learning in pre-colonial West Africa. This lecture will address the rise and transformation of Arabo-Islamic erudition in West Africa from the sixteenth century through the colonial period to the twenty-first century. It will highlight the contribution of Muslim scholars to the production and transmission of knowledge and to the shaping of state and society in West Africa. It will argue that no study of the history of education or knowledge production in West Africa will be complete unless it pays attention to this intellectual tradition.

Ousmane Oumar KANE

Professeur, Religion et société islamiques contemporaines
Harvard Divinity School, États-Unis

Biographie

Ousmane Kane a rejoint Harvard Divinity School en juillet 2012 en qualité de professeur de religion et société islamiques contemporaines de la Chaire Prince Alwaleed Bin Talal. Le professeur Kane étudie l'histoire des institutions et organisations religieuses islamiques depuis le 18^e siècle et travaille à documenter l'histoire intellectuelle de l'islam en Afrique. Kane s'intéresse également au phénomène de globalisation musulmane. Son livre Homeland Is the Arena: Religion, Transnationalism and the Integration of Senegalese Immigrants in America (Oxford University Press, 2010) s'intéresse à la communauté des immigrés sénégalais à New York aux États-Unis et à l'importance que ces derniers assignent à leurs communautés religieuses dans l'organisation de leurs vies. Parmi ses autres ouvrages, on trouve Muslim Modernity in Postcolonial Nigeria (Brill, 2003) et Timbuktu and Beyond: Rethinking African Intellectual History, à paraître chez Harvard University Press.

Éducation islamique en Afrique de l'Ouest: le passé et le présent

La majorité des personnes dans le monde ont entendu parler de Tombouctou comme d'un centre d'éducation où sont conservés des milliers de manuscrits en arabe. Pendant l'intervention française pour arrêter l'avancée des islamistes au Mali, certains de ces manuscrits ont été détruits. En revanche, rares sont ceux qui savent que Tombouctou a été un des nombreux centres d'éducation islamique dans l'Afrique de l'Ouest précoloniale. Cette conférence a pour objet la croissance et la transformation de l'érudition arabo-islamique en Afrique de l'Ouest du 16^e siècle au 21^e siècle en passant par la période coloniale. Elle illustrera la contribution des intellectuels musulmans dans la production et la transmission du savoir et dans la formation de l'État et des changements sociaux en Afrique de l'Ouest. De fait, aucune étude de l'histoire de l'éducation et de la production du savoir en Afrique de l'Ouest ne peut être complète si elle ne prend pas en compte cette tradition intellectuelle.

Jemima PIERRE

Associate Professor (tenured), Department of African American Studies, and Department of Anthropology, University of California, Los Angeles, USA

Bio

Jemima Pierre (Ph.D., University of Texas at Austin) is a sociocultural anthropologist whose research and teaching interests are located in the overlaps between African Studies and African Diaspora Studies and engage three broad areas: race, racial formation theory, and political economy; culture and the history of anthropological theory; and transnationalism, globalization, and diaspora. She is the author of The Predicament of Blackness: Postcolonial Ghana and the Politics of Race (Winner of the 2014 Elliot Skinner Book Award in Africanist Anthropology). She is currently completing a manuscript whose working title is Racial Americanization: Conceptualizing African Immigrants in the U.S., and working on a project on the racialized political economy of multinational resource extraction in Ghana.

Pan-Africanism, Decolonization, and the Black Radical Tradition

In this lecture, I will argue that the current moment of neoliberal neocolonialism on the African continent reflects, in part, the failure of the political and cultural project of decolonization and, importantly, the failure of scholars to properly analyze the colonial apparatus – particularly its enduring structures of race and power. The lecture reconfigures African social movements and pan-African intellectual history through the theoretical framework of the “Black Radical Tradition,” a tradition of liberation through the actions of the central subject of European domination – the (global) racialized Black subject. The theory of the Black Radical Tradition creates the intellectual space for: 1) examining the possibilities and failure of Pan-Africanism; 2) reconsidering the history and ethnography of decolonization, particularly the importance of (de)racialization and 3) imagining new African futures.

Jemima PIERRE

Maître de conférences au département des Études afro-américaines et au département d'Anthropologie, Université de Californie, Los Angeles, États-Unis

Biographie

Jemima Pierre (titulaire d'un doctorat en Science politique à l'Université de Texas, Austin) est une anthropologue socioculturelle dont les axes de recherche et d'enseignement se situent à la croisée des études africaines et des études de la diaspora africaine et concernent trois grands domaines conceptuels: race, théorie de la formation raciale et économie politique; culture et histoire de la théorie anthropologique; transnationalisme, globalisation et diaspora. Elle est l'auteure de The Predicament of Blackness: Postcolonial Ghana and the Politics of Race (ce livre a reçu en 2014 le prix Elliot Skinner en anthropologie africaniste). Elle achève un manuscrit dont le titre provisoire est Racial Americanization: Conceptualizing African Immigrants in the U.S et travaille également sur un projet concernant l'économie politique racialisée de l'extraction multinationale des ressources au Ghana.

Panafricanisme, décolonisation et la tradition radicale noire

L'argument clé de cette conférence est de faire valoir que la période récente du néocolonialisme néolibéral sur le continent africain reflète l'échec de la politique de décolonisation politique et culturelle, et plus significativement l'échec des intellectuels à analyser de manière pertinente l'appareil colonial – en particulier, la permanence structurelle de la race et du pouvoir. La présentation tentera de reconsidérer les mouvements sociaux africains et l'histoire intellectuelle panafricaine à travers le cadre théorique de la « tradition radicale noire », une tradition de libération à travers les actions du sujet central de la domination européenne - le sujet (global) Noir racialisé. La théorie de la « tradition radicale noire » crée un espace intellectuel pour examiner les possibilités et l'échec du panafricanisme, reconsidérer l'histoire et l'ethnographie de la décolonisation, en particulier l'importance de la (dé) racialisation, et imaginer de nouveaux futurs africains.

Atalaku (2013)

Dieudo Hamadi
RDC, France/DRC, France – 60 min.
Mutotu Productions. Français

L'élection présidentielle de 2011 fut la deuxième élection libre seulement, depuis l'indépendance de la République Démocratique du Congo en 1960. Gaylor, pasteur sans-le-sou (comme une majorité des neuf millions d'habitants de Kinshasa), se métamorphose en atalaku, « crieur » en lingala. Il fait affaire avec le député le plus offrant dont il assure la publicité dans la rue et pour qui il dénicher des musiciens qui composeront la chanson de sa campagne. Ce film a reçu le prix Joris Ivens au Festival du Cinéma du Réel 2013.

The 2011 presidential election in DRC was the second free election since the country's founding in 1960. In this context, Gaylor, a pastor who, like many Kinois, has not a centime to his name, becomes an atalaku (lingala for "crier/praise singer"). He strikes a deal with the politician who is paying the most and locates musicians to compose his campaign song. This film won the Joris Ivens prize at Cinéma du Réel in 2013.

Congo, un médecin pour sauver les femmes (2014)

Angèle Diabang
Sénégal - 52 min.
Karoninka-Roches Noires Productions. Français

Récompensé par le prix Sakharov en 2014, le chirurgien congolais Denis Mukwege opère depuis 15 ans, dans l'hôpital qu'il a fondé, des femmes victimes de sévices sexuels dans la province du Sud-Kivu. Ce film, qui lui donne la parole, ainsi qu'aux soignantes et à leurs patientes, est un cri à la face du monde.

Awarded the Sakharov Prize in 2014, Congolese Dr Denis Mukwege has been operating on women survivors of sexual violence in the hospital he founded in the South-Kivu province for fifteen years. The film, which gives the doctor, the nurses and their patients a voice, is a cry to the world.

Miners Shot Down (2014)

Rehad Desai
South Africa/Afrique du Sud - 85 min.
Uhuru Productions. English

In August 2012, mine workers in one of South Africa's biggest platinum mines began a wildcat strike for better wages. Six days into the strike, the police used live ammunition to brutally suppress the strike, killing 34 and injuring many more. The police insisted that they shot in self-defence. Available images suggest otherwise.

En août 2012, les mineurs de la plus grande mine de platine d'Afrique du Sud entamèrent une grève sans préavis pour exiger une augmentation de salaire. Après six jours de grève la police donna l'assaut, tirant à balles réelles, pour briser la grève. Bilan: 34 morts et de nombreux blessés. Selon la police, elle a agi en état de légitime défense. Les images ne corroborent pas tout à fait cette thèse.

Our Beloved Sudan (2012)

Taghreed Elsanhoury
Sudan/Soudan - 92 min.
Autoproduit par la réalisatrice. English

Our Beloved Sudan tells the story of the Sudanese nation counting down to a self-determination referendum on whether the country remains united or breaks apart. The film takes the historical trajectory of the nation from birth in 1956 to its partition in 2011, interlacing a public and a private story. It invites key political figures to reflexively engage with Sudan's history, while observing an ordinary, mixed-race family caught across the divides of a big historical moment as its members try to make sense of the partition and live through it.

Our Beloved Sudan raconte l'histoire du referendum soudanais sur la partition du Soudan. Le film suit la trajectoire historique de cette nation, depuis sa naissance en 1956 jusqu'à sa partition en 2011. Histoire publique et histoires privées se rencontrent. D'importantes figures politiques sont invitées à s'exprimer sur l'histoire du Soudan. En parallèle, une famille aux origines multiples fait face à ce moment historique critique, en tentant de le comprendre et de faire face ensemble à la partition.

Jean-Marie Teno
Cameroun - 55 min.
Films du Raphia. Français

Dans ce film Jean-Marie Teno poursuit sa réflexion critique sur les séquelles du colonialisme dans son pays, dans la vie publique comme dans la vie privée. En 2004, le hasard provoque une rencontre avec Ernestine Ouandié, la fille d'Ernest Ouandié, ce leader de l'UPC (Union des populations du Cameroun) qui avait mené, de la fin des années 1950 à la fin des années 1960, la lutte armée pour l'indépendance du Cameroun, puis contre le pouvoir (Ahidjo) mis en place par l'ancien colonisateur. La jeune femme lui raconte sa vie dramatique: sans père et avec une mère qui la rejette, le poids du silence et l'échec de ses recherches de la vérité sur l'assassinat de son père en 1971 par le pouvoir camerounais.

AFRICA ACTS

<http://africaacts.ecas2015.fr>

AFRICA ACTS, 5-12 July 2015

Alongside ECAS, IMAF and LAM are organizing AFRICA ACTS, a weeklong event dedicated to the arts of performance in Africa and her diasporas. Developed with a large, local and international audience in mind, AFRICA ACTS takes place in locations across the city of Paris. The very first event of its kind in France, AFRICA ACTS offers ambitious and innovative programming focused on the work of artists at once highly original and deeply engaged. Choreographers, playwrights and actors, poets, composers, filmmakers, street artists, DJs and VJs hailing from cities across the globe meet and collaborate.

The artists taking part in AFRICA ACTS work resolutely outside the box. They share a refusal of easy choices and a dedication to forms of expression that push the boundaries of their respective disciplines. Their practices speak truth to power, rejecting in manifold ways the social, political and economic violence of our contemporary world and seeking, simultaneously, to transcend it. Theirs is art that re-enchants the social order, thinking it through the prism of imaginaries that stand on their heads clichés and ready-made ideas.

AFRICA ACTS is not a survey, an all-encompassing take on performance arts in Africa and the Diaspora. It does not seek to be exhaustive, but to offer to a diverse group of artists a carte blanche: a space of interaction to enter upon as they wish, in dialogue with a wide range of audiences. With this in mind, the event takes place in and around many types of venues: contemporary art spaces, museums, galleries, theatres large and small, university auditoriums plazas and streets. In these various arenas, at a time when Paris welcomes visitors from around the globe, the city is abuzz with the work of artists who are among the international art scene's most thoughtful and challenging practitioners.

From Lagos to New York, Tokyo and Paris, art from Africa and her Diasporas is booming. AFRICA ACTS reflects this state of affairs and builds upon it, focusing on forms of performance that stand at the very cusp of contemporary practice.

Artists invited to take part in AFRICA ACTS include: Jelili Atiku, Jean-Pierre Bekolo, Alioune Diagne, Em'kal Eyongakpa, Anne Historical, Serge Kakudji, Kapwani Kiwanga, Neo Muyanga, Ntone Edjabe, Qudus Onikeku, Brice Wassy and Breeze Yoko.

A detailed schedule is available separately.

AFRICA ACTS is made possible thanks to the kind support of Total, Fondation Cartier pour l'art contemporain, Institut français d'Afrique du Sud, ACASA, Maison Rouge, Fondation Kadist, Bétonsalon, Musée Dapper, Collège des Bernardins, Le M.U.R. and Fondation Lucien Paye.

AFRICA ACTS, 5-12 juillet 2015

Parallèlement à l'ECAS, l'IMAF et LAM organisent AFRICA ACTS : une semaine consacrée aux arts de la performance en Afrique et dans ses diasporas. À l'attention d'un large public parisien, AFRICA ACTS a été conçu comme un parcours à travers la capitale. Premier événement en son genre en France, AFRICA ACTS propose une programmation ambitieuse et novatrice mettant en exergue la singularité et l'originalité du travail d'artistes résolument hors-format. Chorégraphes, femmes et hommes de théâtre, poètes, compositeurs, cinéastes et vidéastes, graffeurs, DJs et VJs venus de multiples horizons s'y croisent.

AFRICA ACTS

Rigoureux, exigeants, ludiques aussi : les artistes au cœur d'AFRICA ACTS décapent. Ils ont en commun un refus de la facilité, un engagement dans et pour des formes artistiques qui questionnent les limites de leurs disciplines. ACTION, ACTes posés, ACTualité : à travers leurs œuvres se dessinent tout à la fois une critique sans quartier de la violence sociale, économique et politique à l'échelle globale et un désir de la transcender. Individuellement et tous ensemble, ils posent sur le monde qui les entoure des regards qui tendent à le ré-enchanter : le repenser, le rêver à l'aune d'imaginaires qui mettent à mal clichés et idées reçues.

AFRICA ACTS ne se veut pas une vue d'ensemble, un regard englobant sur les arts de la performance en Afrique et dans ses diasporas. Il ne s'agit pas de viser à l'exhaustivité, mais d'offrir à une riche palette d'artistes une carte blanche, un espace d'interaction entre créateurs et publics de nationalités et d'intérêts divers. À cette fin, de nombreux types de lieux sont proposés aux artistes et à ceux qui viendront à leur rencontre : espaces de création contemporaine, musées, galeries, salles de spectacle grandes et petites, auditoriums d'université, parvis, rues... Dans ces lieux sont mis à l'honneur des créateurs parmi les plus engagés de la scène artistique internationale.

À l'image de l'Afrique elle-même, dans les grandes villes d'Europe et d'Amérique du Nord, les arts contemporains d'Afrique et de ses diasporas prennent une place de plus en plus importante. AFRICA ACTS s'inscrit dans cette mouvance, tout en proposant une approche nouvelle : une focale sur la performance d'avant-garde qui enrichit un dialogue éminemment actuel sur la place des Afriques dans le monde.

Parmi les artistes invités : Jelili Atiku, Jean-Pierre Bekolo, Alioune Diagne, Em'kal Eyongakpa, Anne Historical, Serge Kakudji, Kapwani Kiwanga, Neo Muyanga, Ntone Edjabe, Qudus Onikeku, Brice Wassy et Breeze Yoko.

Un programme détaillé est disponible séparément.

AFRICA ACTS est rendu possible par l'aimable soutien de Total, la Fondation Cartier pour l'art contemporain, l'Institut français d'Afrique du Sud, ACASA, la Maison Rouge, la Fondation Kadist, Bétonsalon, le Musée Dapper, le Collège des Bernardins, Le M.U.R. et la Fondation Lucien Paye.

Jelili Atiku

It is often said that performance art is an elite practice, reserved for the happy few. Jelili Atiku, founder and director of Africa's first performance biennale, proves otherwise. From Lagos to Casablanca, Vancouver and Tokyo, he takes over public space, calling out and rending asunder inequalities and injustices inherent to our late capitalist times.

On dit souvent que la performance est un art destiné à une élite de connaisseurs, de « happy few ». Initiateur et directeur de la première biennale consacrée à la performance sur le continent africain, Jelili Atiku prouve le contraire. De Lagos à Casablanca, en passant par Vancouver et Tokyo, cet artiste de renommée internationale investit l'espace public et, au travers de mises en scène choc, heurte, bouscule et interroge les inégalités et l'injustice inhérentes au capitalisme tardif.

Closing / Soirée de clôture

ECAS' closing event will take place at the Fondation Cartier pour l'art contemporain. On this occasion, conference participants will witness a preview showing of the exhibition Beauté Congo —1926-2015— Congo Kitoko. A place of extraordinary cultural vitality, the Democratic Republic of Congo is honored in this important show. Taking as its point of departure the birth of modern painting in Congo in the 1920s and moving on to look at several decades of painting, music, sculpture and photography, the exhibition traces almost a century of this vast country's artistic creation.

Following on the Fondation Cartier, the New Morning, Paris' jazz club extraordinaire, will host an after party. On the decks: Ntone Edjabe. Ntone is the founder, among many other initiatives, of the off-the-charts brilliant Chimurenga Magazine and the Pan-African Space Station (PASS), an Internet music platform streamed live across the African world. His practice as a DJ spans the fields of music and radical political engagement.

La soirée de clôture de l'ECAS se tiendra à la Fondation Cartier pour l'art contemporain. À cette occasion, les participants au colloque pourront voir en avant-première l'exposition Beauté Congo —1926-2015— Congo Kitoko. Théâtre d'une extraordinaire créativité artistique, la République Démocratique du Congo est mise à l'honneur dans cette importante exposition. Prenant pour point de départ la naissance de la peinture moderne au Congo dans les années 1920, l'exposition retrace près d'un siècle de création. Si la peinture est au cœur du parcours de l'exposition, la sculpture, la photographie et la musique viennent également rendre compte de la richesse et du dynamisme créatifs de ce vaste pays. La soirée sera suivie d'une after party au New Morning, l'incontournable club de jazz parisien. Aux platines, Ntone Edjabe. Ntone est le fondateur de la décapante revue panafricaine Chimurenga et de la Pan-African Space Station (PASS), plateforme musicale Internet écoutée en live sur l'ensemble du continent africain. Dans sa pratique de DJ, il associe érudition musicale et profond engagement politique.

Collaborative Research Groups within AEGIS: What is on Offer?

The Africa -Europe Group for Interdisciplinary Studies (AEGIS) has created thematic groups which have the specificity that they are open to researchers from outside the 29 AEGIS member institutes. Since 2011 the following Collaborative Research Groups (CRGs) have seen the light: Africa in the Indian Ocean, African history, African Borderlands Research Network, Drylands, Politics in Africa, Violent conflict, and Visual and Expressive Cultures. After a short introduction of the idea behind this institutional innovation (Andreas Mehler) the coordinators of those CRGs will present main rationale, topics, past and future activities of their CRG followed by Q&A.

ROUND TABLES

TABLES RONDES / MESAS REDONDAS

2015

Ebola. African Studies in Times of Emergency / Ebola. Les études africaines en temps d'urgence

Convenors/Organisateurs: Guillaume Lachenal (Université Paris Diderot-Paris 7); Anita Schroven (Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology)

The epidemic of Ebola Virus Disease in West Africa has brought the disciplines studying the region and researching medical emergencies into the spotlight. There was structural demand from intervening humanitarian, research and aid organizations for a social-science engagement in their work. While not new, the scale of social-science engagement with this international intervention is unprecedented and merits a discussion across disciplines and national contexts. This round table brings together scholars who recently took part in the response to the Ebola epidemic, whether directly as fieldworkers or clinicians, or from a distance, as experts of "the local" or of the "cultural context". Two cross-cutting themes will guide the discussion. 1) Experiencing the crisis: The Ebola epidemic as fieldwork. What can we learn from the involvement of anthropologists in the response to the present epidemic? Beyond the classic figure of the "embedded anthropologist", what kind of new relationships with medico-humanitarian interventions, and what forms of collective and collaborative work have (not) emerged? 2) Understanding the crisis: Urgent pasts and pathogenic contexts. Beyond the tempos of emergency, what are critical insights and new perspectives developed by the researchers specialized in the region and/or in the study of humanitarian aid and biopolitics?

L'épidémie de maladie à virus Ebola en Afrique de l'Ouest a placé sur le devant de la scène les disciplines et chercheur-e-s spécialistes de la région et des questions médicales. Une demande structurelle d'interaction avec les sciences sociales s'est exprimée du côté des organisations humanitaires, de secours et de recherche. Bien qu'une telle implication des sciences sociales ne soit pas nouvelle en soi, son échelle et son importance dans la réponse à Ebola rendent un retour sur expérience nécessaire. La table ronde réunit des chercheur-e-s qui ont récemment pris part à la réponse à l'épidémie, directement en tant que praticiens de terrain, ou à distance, en tant qu'expert du « local » ou du « contexte culturel ». Deux thèmes orienteront la discussion. 1) Traverser la crise: l'épidémie d'Ebola comme terrain. Que retenir de l'implication des anthropologues dans la réponse à l'épidémie actuelle ? Au-delà de la figure classique de « l'anthropologue embarqué », quelles relations avec les interventions médico-humanitaires ont été expérimentées? Quelles formes de travail collectif et collaboratif ont émergé? 2) Comprendre la crise: contextes pathogènes et passés urgents. Au-delà du rythme de l'urgence épidémique, quelles perspectives critiques et scientifiques peuvent proposer les chercheur-e-s spécialistes de l'étude de la région, de l'aide humanitaire et des biopolitiques?

Speakers/Intervenants: Tara Diener (University of Michigan); Nathaniel King (World Bank, Sierra Leone); Emmanuelle Roth (SOUS); Susan Shepler (American University)

Discussant/Discutant: Vinh-Kim Nguyen (University of Amsterdam & Collège d'études mondiales, Paris)

Gender, mobilizations and citizenship in Africa / Genre, mobilisations et citoyenneté en Afrique

Convenors/Organisatrices : Anne Hugon (IMAF) ; Sara Borrillo (Université de Naples)

Since the 1970s, researches on the role of women in social movements and on the impact of gender dynamics in mobilisations have been multiplied in Western contexts, as well as in non-Western contexts, thanks to postcolonial studies and to the commitment of Southern activists and feminists researchers. By crossing mainly French and English disciplinary boundaries, this round table will analyse the forms and the causes of African women's commitment and gender relations, and more generally socio-political configurations, within these mobilisations - feminine, mixed, "progressive" as well as "conservative." By paying attention to the historicity and the entanglement of local and transnational dimensions, this round table will explore the relationship between female subordination, political participation process, and the definition of citizenship, through some case studies dealing with the impact of women's mobilizations - or their symbolic representation - in national building process and in the recognition of civil, economic and political rights, religious identities or "moral values".

Depuis les années 1970, les recherches portant sur la place des femmes dans les mouvements sociaux et sur l'impact des dynamiques de genre dans les mobilisations se sont multipliées, dans les espaces occidentaux, comme non-occidentaux, à la faveur des études postcoloniales et de l'engagement de militant(e)s et chercheur(e)s féministes du Sud. En croisant les regards disciplinaires, surtout francophones et anglophones, cette table ronde entend contribuer à l'analyse des formes et causes d'engagement de femmes africaines et à celle des rapports de genre, et plus généralement aux configurations socio-politiques, produits dans et par ces mobilisations - qu'elles soient féminines, mixtes, « progressistes » comme « conservatrices ». En restant attentive à l'historicité et à l'enchevêtrement des dimensions locales et transnationales des processus étudiés, cette table ronde sera l'occasion d'explorer les rapports entre subalternité féminine, passage au politique et définition de la citoyenneté, à travers des cas d'étude portant sur l'impact des mobilisations des femmes - ou leur représentation symbolique - dans les processus de la construction nationale, de la reconnaissance des droits civils, économiques et politiques, des identités religieuses ou des « valeurs morales ».

(Dis-)connections in Histories of African Studies on the Continent and Beyond / (Dis-) continuités : les études en histoire africaine en Afrique et ailleurs dans le monde

[CRG History]

Convenors/Organisateurs : Odile Goerg (Université Paris-Diderot-Paris 7) ; Henri-Michel Yere (Novartis Institutes for BioMedical Research NIBR)

The round table addresses the engagement between African Studies as an international field of study and the community of researchers, lecturers, academics based on the continent, whose agendas have at times looked very different from the preoccupations of African Studies as such. This gap shows through the marked differences in the research questions and methodological approaches displayed in Africa on the one hand and in the rest of the world (notably in Europe and North America) on the other hand. The different research priorities make the disciplines of African Studies come across as divorced from one another. We welcome papers which look closely at this seeming disconnect and provide an understanding of what interferes with the circulation of ideas within the field. How has this manifested itself in African history in particular? Have the politics of research funding played a role in this? How has this disconnect produced "Centres" and "Peripheries" in African Studies? What is the legacy of the "historic" schools of thinking based on the continent (Ibadan, Dar-es-Salaam, Dakar) in the field of African history today? How much does the field of African Studies take into consideration the research output of academics based in Africa outside of South Africa? What is the responsibility of the academic diaspora in this conundrum? How much of an impact do these tensions bear on the conceptual creativity of historians and social scientists active in the field of African Studies?

Cette table ronde a pour objet de porter un regard critique sur la teneur des rapports entre les études africaines en tant que champ d'études international et la communauté de chercheurs et autres universitaires qui travaillent en Afrique, avec une attention particulière sur la différence de priorités qui transparait entre cette communauté et celle basée hors du continent africain. Les différences sensibles dans la formulation des problématiques de recherche ainsi que des priorités d'ordre méthodologique entre chercheurs opérant depuis l'Afrique et ceux en provenance notamment d'Europe et d'Amérique du Nord ont été telles qu'elles ont donné aux études africaines un visage fragmenté, qui a pu mener certains à se poser la question de l'unité de ce champ d'études en tant que tel. Cette table ronde se propose d'accueillir des contributions qui analyseront cette éventuelle déconnexion, tout en identifiant les différents éléments qui empêchent la circulation des idées au sein de ce champ d'études. Comment ce phénomène s'est-il effectivement manifesté dans les études africaines ? Les politiques de financement de la recherche sont-elles responsables de cette situation ? Comment cette différence a produit, ou non, des « centres » et des « périphéries » dans le monde des études africaines ? Qu'en est-il de l'héritage des écoles de pensée « historiques » du continent africain (Ibadan, Dar-es-Salaam, Dakar) ? Quel accueil les études africaines réservent-elles aux travaux des chercheurs basés en Afrique (hormis en Afrique du Sud) ? Comment la diaspora universitaire réagit-elle à cet état de fait ? Quel est l'impact de ces tensions sur la capacité créative des chercheurs en sciences sociales et en histoire dans le domaine des études africaines ?

Ethics as Ideals of Practice / L'éthique comme idéal de la pratique

Convenor/Organisateur: Michael Lambek (University of Toronto and Mac Gill University)

Sponsored by AFRICA, Journal of the International African Institute

Historical experiences of colonialism, domination and exploitation, as well as postcolonial developments relating to civil wars, corrupt governments and economic inequalities provide painful but nevertheless important grounds for debates about ethics on the African continent. Focusing on debates over ordinary ethics in sub-Saharan Africa, the round table subscribes to Michael Lambek's observation that the ethical is located "in the conjunction or movement between explicit local pronouncements and implicit local practices and circumstances". Contributions proceed from the observation that there are marked differences in time and space in what triggers such movements between the implicitness and explicitness of ethics, and in the ways they manifest themselves. More particularly, we argue that what presently can be noticed (or 'what is perceptible', or 'can be observed') on the African continent is a momentous reconfiguration of civil society that, among other things, finds expression in the emergence of new actors, organizations and forms of agency that position themselves ethically in (and act as intermediaries in the social space between) individuality and wider sociality. We explore the explication and implication of 'old' and 'new' ethics that these actors and agencies are pursuing in order to gain legitimacy or to foster changing social imaginaries in the wider social context of postcolonial African societies.

Les expériences historiques du colonialisme, de la domination et de l'exploitation ainsi que les développements liés aux guerres civiles, à la corruption des gouvernements et aux inégalités économiques fournissent une base de discussion douloureuse mais importante pour les débats concernant l'éthique en Afrique. En privilégiant les débats autour de l'éthique ordinaire en Afrique subsaharienne, cette table ronde souscrit à l'observation de Michael Lambek : l'éthique se situe entre déclarations explicites locales et pratiques ou circonstances implicites. Les contributions s'appuient sur le constat qu'il existe des différences marquées dans le temps et dans l'espace sur ce qui génère ces mouvements entre le caractère implicite et explicite de l'éthique. En Afrique, plus particulièrement, nous suggérons que ce qui peut être observé est une reconfiguration de la société civile. Celle-ci s'exprime, entre autres, par l'émergence de nouveaux acteurs, de nouvelles organisations et de nouvelles formes d'agency, qui se positionnent de manière ethnique entre l'individualité et la socialité. Nous explorons les explications et les implications des « anciennes » et des « nouvelles » éthiques poursuivies par des acteurs en quête de légitimité dans un contexte de changement des imaginaires sociaux des sociétés africaines postcoloniales.

African Studies Journals Round Tables/Tables rondes des revues d'études africaines

Two round tables are organized in ECAS 2015 to allow the public to know more about African studies journals. Editors will introduce their journal before addressing one of two following issues: what these journals do to promote young scholars especially those based in African institutions? What these journals do to promote interdisciplinary approach?

Deux tables rondes sont organisées à l'ECAS 2015 pour permettre au public de connaître davantage les revues académiques dédiées aux études africaines. Les rédacteurs en chefs présenteront leur revue avant de répondre à l'une des deux questions suivantes: que font les revues pour promouvoir les publications des jeunes chercheurs notamment ceux des institutions africaines? Que font les revues pour promouvoir des approches pluridisciplinaires?

Round Table 5/Table ronde 5: Promoting Young Scholars / Promouvoir les jeunes chercheurs

Chair/Présidence: Nic Cheeseman (African Affairs)

Speakers/intervenants: Nic Cheeseman (African Affairs); Hannah Cross (Review of African Political Economy); Andreas Eckert (Journal of African History); Diana Jeater (Journal of Southern African Studies); Zoe Marks (Critical African Studies); Henning Melber (Africa Spectrum); Didier Péclard (Politique africaine)

Round table 6/Table ronde 6: Promoting Interdisciplinary Approach / Promouvoir les approches interdisciplinaires

Chair/Présidence: Hannah Cross (Review of African Political Economy).

Speakers/intervenants: Nadège Chabloz (Cahier d'études africaines); Raphaël Jozan (Afrique contemporaine); David Pratten (Africa); Annelies Verdoolaege (Afrika Focus); Leonardo Villalón (Journal of Modern African Studies); Mario Zamponi (Afriche e Orienti)

Journalists and Researchers Facing Crisis Situation/ Journalistes et chercheurs face aux situations de crise

Convenor/Organisatrice : Caroline Roussy (IMAF) ; Chair/Présidence : Alain Foka (RFI)

Boko Haram; the Chadian intervention in Northern Nigeria; instability in the North of Mali and the Sahel more broadly; yesterday's war in Rwanda and today's in the Central African Republic: these crisis situations are a focus for journalists and scholars alike. Both groups in their writings seek to make sense of complex states of affairs; their approaches, however, differ. In this regard, a set of key questions arises: how do these two sets of actors address work in the field? How do they present their findings? What is the weight of words?

Faced with the types of situations alluded to here, scholars must commonly operate at least in part undercover, without making immediately clear the subject of their research. How does this compare with the approaches deployed by journalists? For scholars, establishing a long-term presence within given communities is essential. How about journalists? How do they go about developing networks? Given the danger of certain situations, is it most reasonable for them to be embedded? If so, how does this impact on the collection of data?

The purpose of this round table is to compare experiences, to exchange views on methods employed in danger situations, and to consider jointly how such experiences are rendered in words.

Boko Haram, intervention tchadienne au Nord Nigeria, déstabilisation du Nord Mali et plus largement de la zone sahélienne, guerre hier au Rwanda, aujourd'hui en Centrafrique: toutes ces situations de crise mobilisent autant les journalistes que les chercheurs. En dépit d'un point commun qui est de donner des clés de lecture pour comprendre ces différents événements, les « arts de faire » des uns et des autres diffèrent. Deux questions se posent: comment évolue-t-on sur ces types de terrains et dans quels termes présenter les informations qu'on y collecte? Le choix des mots est-il important voire à considérer comme signifiant?

Confrontés à ces situations, souvent, les chercheurs sont obligés d'avancer masqués, de taire le sujet exact de leurs recherches. Quelles comparaisons entre cette approche et celle de journalistes? Pour les chercheurs, bénéficier d'un bon ancrage territorial, et de ce fait de réseaux locaux bien établis, est primordial et nécessite un investissement sur le terrain de longue durée. Qu'en est-il pour les journalistes? Comment créent-ils leurs propres réseaux? Sont-ils contraints par la dangerosité de la situation d'être « embedded »? Dans ce cas, dans quelle mesure cette dernière option change-t-elle la donne dans la collecte de l'information?

Spatial Readings of Violent Conflict in Africa: Discussion on the Pertinence of the "Spatial Turn" in African Conflict Studies / Lectures spatiales des conflits en Afrique: de la pertinence du « tournant spatial » dans les études sur les conflits en Afrique

[CRG Conflict]

Convenor/Organisateur : Georg Klute (Bayreuth University)

During this round table, a number of conflict researchers working on African violent conflict dynamics will engage in a discussion on the importance and usefulness of spatial perspectives in their analyses. Studying violent conflict from a spatial perspective has steadily entered into critical conflict studies. This round table aims to critically examine this development and the scope of spatial analytical categories to make sense of violent conflict in Africa. In this discussion, we aim at moving beyond the classical spatial perspectives on conflict dynamics, such as that of political geography focusing on issues such as struggles over resources, sovereignty, land, territorial identity, borders, etc. Focusing on the spatialities of violent conflict, we would like to broaden these perspectives and also look into the dialectical relationship between spatial productions (how space is constructed, contested, etc.) and political agency in settings of violent conflict. Participants will be asked, from their own research experience, to comment on the central question: What can a spatial reading of violent conflict dynamics learn us in terms of an academic analysis of practices of governance, political agency and violent struggle over authority and control?

Au cours de cette table ronde, plusieurs chercheurs spécialisés dans le domaine des conflits armés en Afrique s'engageront dans une discussion sur l'importance et l'utilité des perspectives spatiales dans leurs analyses. Étudier les conflits armés à partir d'une perspective spatiale a été intégré dans les études critiques sur les conflits. Dans cette table ronde nous souhaitons aller au-delà des perspectives classiques sur les dynamiques des conflits, comme celui de la géographie politique qui se focalise sur les luttes pour les ressources naturelles, la souveraineté, la terre, l'identité territoriale, les frontières, etc. En se focalisant sur les spatialités des conflits armés, nous aimerions élargir les perspectives et se pencher sur la relation dialectique entre l'action politique et la « production spatiale » (comment l'espace est construit, contesté etc.) des conflits. Les participants seront invités, à partir de leur propre expérience de recherche, à commenter la question suivante : qu'est-ce qu'une lecture spatiale des conflits armés peut nous apprendre sur l'analyse des pratiques de gouvernance, de l'action politique et des luttes violentes pour l'autorité?

African Studies and Biographical Methodologies / Études africaines et méthodes biographiques

Convenors/Organisateurs : Héloïse Kiriakou (IMAF) ; Martin Mourre (IMAF) ; Klaas van Walraven (ASC, Leiden)

This panel focuses on the use of biography in African Studies. Many biographical dictionaries on Africa still belong to the "Colonial Library", or focus only on the leading persons (politicians, writers, etc.). Our panel aims to highlight the relevance of the use of biography for sociological, historical, and prosopographical studies to understand social worlds. With these five interventions, we want to show what biography brings to the general history of Africa while being attentive to the specific problems of the biographical fact in Africa. The use of prosopography, often ignored, allows a social history of institutions from individual, activist and political pathways. The use of statistics, collective biographies and autobiographies to understand social groups, as teachers, African women graduates, academics, politicians, etc., allows to renew the history of a standard issue thanks to the collective biographies and to the news of institutional autobiographies. This panel will be a place of shared reflection on the biographical method. The papers will study various linguistic areas and will focus on characters who made a commitment in one way or other: labour union, political, literary or artistic. It will also be the opportunity to present the « Maitron Afrique », an online biographical dictionary about African mobilizations and protests.

Cette table ronde a pour thème l'usage de la biographie dans les études africaines. En effet, alors que bien des dictionnaires biographiques portant sur l'Afrique appartiennent encore à la « bibliothèque coloniale » ou ne recensent que des personnalités de tout premier plan, qu'il s'agisse d'hommes politiques ou d'écrivains, notre table ronde vise à souligner la pertinence du recours à la biographie, sociologique et historique, et à la prosopographie comme outil de connaissance des mondes sociaux. À travers diverses interventions, il s'agira de cerner ce que la biographie apporte à l'histoire générale de l'Afrique tout en étant attentif aux problèmes spécifiques posés par le fait biographique en Afrique. L'usage de la prosopographie, souvent négligé, permet ainsi de faire une histoire sociale des institutions à partir des individus et de cerner de manière plus documentée, par la statistique, un groupe social: instituteurs, femmes africaines diplômées, universitaires, classe politique, etc., ou encore de renouveler l'histoire d'une question classique grâce aux biographies collectives et à l'usage des autobiographies d'institution. Cette table ronde se veut un lieu d'une réflexion partagée sur la méthode biographique et les communications, centrées sur différentes aires linguistiques, prendront pour thème des personnages qui se sont d'une manière ou d'une autre engagés, quel que soit le type de cet engagement: syndical, politique, littéraire ou artistique etc. Il s'agira, de plus, de présenter le « Maitron Afrique », qui est un dictionnaire biographique en ligne des mobilisations et contestations africaines, et qui constitue une base biographique inédite de personnalités publiques africaines.

Policy Dimensions of African Border Issues / Les dimensions politiques des questions de frontière en Afrique

Convenor/Organisatrice : Aichatou Tamba (GIZ-African Union Office)

While an Africa-wide consensus on the continental integration through border management was manifested on a high-level political dimension at the three Conferences of African Ministers in charge of Border Issues (2007, 2010 and 2012), by means of the resulting Declarations on the AUBP and through the AU Convention on Cross-Border Cooperation (Niamey Convention adopted by African Head of States and Government in June 2014), the Programme still needs to be further consolidated through effective and stronger cooperation with academia and practitioners who are also stakeholders of the process along with African Union Member States, Regional Economic Communities and African citizens. The Border Program takes the opportunity of the ECAS 2015 to hold a round table with the following objectives. 1) To introduce the academics to the broader/continental view on borders and border management in Africa; 2) Get a scientific screening of the principles and assumptions of the African Union Border Program (e.g. delimitation and demarcation as mean for conflict prevention) as well as the policies it puts forward such as the Niamey convention; 3) Explore ways for a stronger cooperation between, theory/academia, practice/experts and policy makers; 4) Possibly, conciliate the outcome of the other panels on borders with the continental perspective.

Un consensus sur l'intégration continentale à travers la gestion des frontières s'est récemment manifesté à un haut niveau politique notamment à l'occasion des trois conférences des ministres africains en charge des questions de frontière (2007, 2010 et 2012), des déclarations issues de la création du Programme frontière de l'Union africaine (PFUA) et de l'adoption de la Convention de l'Union africaine (UA) sur la coopération transfrontalière (Convention de Niamey adoptée par les États et les gouvernements africains en juin 2014). Il n'en reste pas moins que le PFUA a besoin d'être renforcé à travers une coopération plus marquée avec le milieu universitaire et les praticiens qui sont parties prenantes de sa mise en œuvre tout comme avec les États membres de l'UA, les Communautés économiques régionales et les citoyens africains. Le Programme souhaite ainsi organiser une table ronde avec les objectifs suivants. 1) Proposer aux universitaires l'approche générale/continentale de la gestion des frontières en Afrique; 2) Recueillir une critique scientifique des principes et hypothèses du PFUA (par exemple la délimitation et la démarcation comme moyen de prévention des conflits) et le rôle de ses instruments tels que la Convention de Niamey; 3) Explorer les moyens de renforcer la coopération entre les universitaires, les praticiens, les experts et les décideurs; 4) Dans la mesure du possible, concilier les résultats des panels sur les frontières avec cette perspective continentale.

Within and around Boko Haram in Nigeria / Dynamiques internes et impact régional de Boko Haram au Nigeria

Convenor/Organisateur : Laurent Fourchard (LAM, FNSP)

Since 2014 Boko Haram has become one of the most media exposed terrorist groups in the world after the abduction of more than 200 schoolgirls from Chibok and the launching of the "Bring Back Our Girls" campaign. The genealogy of Boko Haram goes back to about 2003 with the emergence of the "Nigerian Taliban", but the movement evolved under the leadership of Muhammad Yusuf, from 2007, and Abubakar Shekau, from 2009. Boko Haram now has an accumulated history of radical militancy. However, the paucity of primary data on Boko Haram has been a significant obstacle to understanding the internal dynamics of the movement and the recruitment of its members. This round table proposes at least a partial vision of what is going on within Boko Haram – analysing forced and voluntary recruitment, leadership, and media strategy. It analyses some of the impacts on communities in Northern Nigeria and responses to and from the Nigerian Federal and State governments, Islamic groups, and Christians, and the wider population, in North-East Nigeria, the area most affected by the insurgency, and the country as a whole.

Depuis 2014, Boko Haram est devenu l'un des groupes terroristes les plus médiatiques dans le monde suite à l'enlèvement de plus de 200 lycéennes de la ville de Chibok et le lancement de la campagne « Bring Back our Girls ». L'histoire de Boko Haram remonte à 2003 avec la naissance des « Talibans nigériens » avant de passer sous le leadership de Muhammad Yusuf, en 2007 puis de Abubakar Shekau en 2009. Boko Haram a désormais une histoire conséquente de militantisme radical. La rareté des sources de première main a cependant été un obstacle significatif à la compréhension des dynamiques internes du mouvement et au recrutement de ses membres. Cette table ronde propose une vision partielle de l'intérieur du mouvement (le recrutement forcé et volontaire de ses membres, son leadership, sa stratégie médiatique) et de son impact sur les populations du Nord Nigeria. Il analyse notamment les réponses du gouvernement fédéral et le positionnement des mouvements islamiques, des groupes chrétiens et de la population dans la région Nord-Est, la plus affectée par le conflit.

The ASC has several publication series – four with Brill Publishers, one with Langaa (Cameroon) and two in-house. To name a few: The annual volume Africa Dynamics presents current ASC research results. The Afrika-Studiecentrum Series presents the best of African studies in the Netherlands and the African Yearbook covers the major trends in one calendar year in Sub-Saharan Africa. Many publications can be read online, most can be bought in the ASC webshop.

Afrique contemporaine est une revue pluridisciplinaire trimestrielle traitant des dynamiques contemporaines africaines traitées à travers des articles de fond originaux issus d'un fort ancrage de terrain. Elle se positionne comme une plateforme d'échanges et de débats et s'adresse aux acteurs et observateurs des dynamiques contemporaines africaines : chercheurs, gouvernements, société civile, médias, organisations internationales. Afrique contemporaine est éditée par l'Agence française de développement (AFD) et publiée par la maison d'édition De Boeck et sur la plateforme numérique Cairn.

Africa Institute of South Africa (AISA), a division of the HSRC

AISA in the HSRC undertakes basic, applied and comparative research devoted to the study of Africa and African Diasporas. Additionally, the Centre collaborates with and provides research-based policy advice to African multilateral organisations on public affairs. The work of the Institute makes a contribution to addressing the many dimensions of the study of Africa in Africa and reversing the marginality, in global terms, of knowledge production in Africa.

The BAB Publishing House - under the auspices of the Carl Schlettwein Foundation since 1994 - has been publishing scholarly works on Southern Africa, especially Namibia, since 1971. Its thematic emphases are oriented towards the humanities and social sciences. The BAB Publishing House seeks to promote cultural exchange and engagement regarding important contemporary historical issues and, in particular, to provide African scholars with a platform. Our (cultural-) historical, political and anthropological publications are aimed at international academic audiences as well as engaged readers broadly interested in Africa.

Créé en 2007, le Comptoir des presses d'universités est un service de la Fondation Maison des sciences de l'homme. Il assure la visibilité de la production de 60 éditeurs scientifiques en SHS. Ce catalogue exceptionnel est en vente en ligne sur le site www.lcdpu.fr, au Comptoir des presses, 86 rue Claude Bernard (Paris 5^e) ainsi que lors de manifestations scientifiques et culturelles.

Quelques-uns des éditeurs représentés par lcdpu : Éd. de la Maison des sciences de l'homme, Éd. de l'EHESS, Presses universitaires de Rouen et du Havre, Presses universitaires de Bordeaux, Presses universitaires du Septentrion, Presses universitaires de Strasbourg, Presses universitaires de Liège, Presses universitaires de Rennes, Publications de la Sorbonne...

Fondée en 2005, la plateforme Cairn.info offre aujourd'hui la collection en ligne la plus complète de ressources académiques en langue française dans les domaines des sciences sociales et sciences humaines. Cairn.info regroupe les publications de référence provenant des catalogues d'éditeurs majeurs tels que La Découverte, Belin, Érès, De Boeck, les Presses universitaires de France, Armand Colin, Gallimard, Dalloz, Presses de Sciences Po, etc.

In addition to the French-language content, Cairn International Edition is an English-language interface featuring over 50,000 abstracts and 3,000 full-text articles translated from French to English. This content comes from around 200 of Cairn.info's most important and well-known journals.

Les principaux objectifs du CODESRIA, tels que clairement énoncés dans sa Charte, sont, entre autres, la facilitation de la recherche multidisciplinaire, la promotion de publications issues de la recherche, le renforcement des compétences des chercheurs africains de tous niveaux grâce à un solide programme de formation, la promotion du principe de liberté académique, et la création de multiples forums d'échanges et d'informations entre chercheurs africains. Au cours des 40 dernières années, le CODESRIA s'est imposé comme le leader de l'édition en sciences sociales sur le continent africain, avec 90 % de ses publications provenant directement des activités et des recherches qu'il finance à travers l'appui apporté aux réseaux de recherche, aux universités, aux institutions de recherche en Afrique et de plus en plus dans la Diaspora.

CAIRN INTERNATIONAL EDITION - Your digital access to the French humanities

Founded in September 2005 by four Belgian and French publishers, Cairn.info offers the most comprehensive online collection of French language publications in the humanities and social sciences. Today, it contains four hundred journals and four thousand eBooks from major French, Belgian and Swiss publishers.

While Cairn.info's content is originally published in the French language, it is not limited to it.

Cairn International Edition (www.cairn-int.info) is a dedicated English-language platform, built with the aim to provide a curated selection of outstanding articles published in francophone journals to an English-speaking audience.

Around 50,000 abstracts and over 3,000 full-text articles in English are currently available on Cairn International Edition (www.cairn-int.info) either originally published in English or translated from French by native speaking subject specialists.

Scholarly Works on Southern Africa Wanted

The BAB Publishing House is looking for new authors. If you are an emerging author and want to publish your manuscript on a southern African issue, we encourage you to submit your work!

The Basler Afrika Bibliographien (BAB) in Switzerland has been in existence since 1971 as a private specialist library and archive on southern Africa. The BAB Publishing House issues scholarly works on southern Africa, especially Namibia. Its thematic emphases are oriented towards the humanities and social sciences. The BAB Publishing House seeks to promote cultural exchange and engagement regarding important contemporary historical issues and, in particular, to provide African scholars with a platform.

UNITE OR PERISH

AFRICA FIFTY YEARS AFTER THE FOUNDING OF THE OAU
Edited by Mammo Muchie, Vusi Gumede, Phindile Lukhele-Olorunju, Hailemichael Teshome Demissie

This book is an outcome of the third conference in the successful 'Scramble for Africa' International Conference series, now renamed the 'African Unity for Renaissance' International Conference. The book provides an overview and contains profound analyses of the important issues pertaining to African Unity and African Renaissance. The book is accessible to a wide variety of readers, ranging from policy makers to researchers, from teachers to students, and for anyone concerned with the further development of the African continent and Africa's renewal.

AFRICA: BEYOND RECOVERY

Thandika Mkandawire

Professor Thandika Mkandawire, the first to hold the Chair in African Development at the London School of Economics, delivered the thirty-second in the AGGREY-FRASER-GUGGISBERG MEMORIAL LECTURE SERIES at the University of Ghana in 2013. In these lectures, combining with and imagination with down-to-earth political economy, he traces Africa's attempts at growth and development since the independence era, her attempts at recovery from a string of serious socio-political set-backs, and advocates for the role of universities as essential agents in the drive to sustained development.

THE POLITICAL AND SOCIAL THOUGHT IN AFRICA

Helmi Sharawy

The essays collected together in this book reflect the author's varied experiences in the realms of politics and social struggle; he notes that they cannot be separated from his other experiences in his country, Egypt, over the years. These experiences extend from popular culture or folklore, through the wider political world of African liberation politics, to the Committee for the Defense of National Culture.

PROMOTING PROGRESSIVE AFRICAN THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

Edited by Aziz Pahad, Garth le Pere, Miranda Strydom

The much-heralded economic benefits of the neo-liberal free market economy have not materialised. Instead we see across the world, among others, growing inequality in terms of the distribution of wealth and income, which has led to such popular responses as the Occupy Wall Street movement in the US and the antiausterity demonstrations in Europe. And indeed neo-liberal deregulation to create a 'free market' for the financial institutions led to the world financial and economic crisis which started in the US in 2008 – the worst global economic crisis since the 1929 Depression, again in the US. Given all the foregoing, what is called for are alternative and progressive voices which are able to offer different interpretations and readings of the fast unfolding events and processes, and are also capable of questioning the prevailing assumptions and underlying logic of the Western 'liberal order'. This is the same order that must bear much of the responsibility for the current state of despair, hopelessness, and cynicism in international relations. These alternative and progressive voices are especially important for us as Africans, given the reality that Africa remains marginalised in terms of helping to fashion these relations, despite their direct impact on the lives and destiny of the one billion Africans. This is further compounded by the weakness of the African voice even about African developments.

KNOWLEDGE PRODUCTION AND CONTRADICTIONARY FUNCTIONS IN AFRICAN HIGHER EDUCATION

Edited by Nico Cloete, Peter Maassen, Tracy Bailey

"THIS VOLUME BRINGS TOGETHER EXCELLENT SCHOLARSHIP AND INNOVATIVE POLICY DISCUSSION TO DEMONSTRATE THE ESSENTIAL ROLE OF HIGHER EDUCATION IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF AFRICA AND OF THE WORLD AT LARGE. BASED ON DEEP KNOWLEDGE OF THE UNIVERSITY SYSTEM IN SEVERAL AFRICAN COUNTRIES, THIS BOOK WILL RESHAPE THE DEBATE ON DEVELOPMENT IN THE GLOBAL INFORMATION ECONOMY FOR YEARS TO COME. IT SHOULD BE MANDATORY READING FOR ACADEMICS, POLICY-MAKERS AND CONCERNED CITIZENS, IN AFRICA AND ELSEWHERE."

La Société des Africanistes a été fondée en 1930 et, dès sa création, elle a regroupé en son sein les spécialistes de l'Afrique et manifesté une pluridisciplinarité qui est devenue la caractéristique de ses publications : ethnologie, anthropologie, linguistique, histoire, préhistoire, géographie.

Depuis sa création, la Société n'a cessé d'être un noyau vivant de la recherche et de son évolution. Actuellement elle regroupe un grand nombre des africanistes français mais aussi plusieurs personnalités étrangères et de plus en plus de chercheurs africains.

Les activités de la Société comportent mensuellement une conférence, qui est le lieu où s'expriment en primeur les découvertes des chercheurs revenant du terrain, et la projection d'un film sur l'Afrique qui fait l'objet d'un débat avec les spectateurs.

La Société a également une revue, le Journal des Africanistes, qui depuis 1931, date de parution du premier numéro, paraît régulièrement. La Société publie également des ouvrages originaux dont la publication des deux derniers a été l'occasion d'ouvrir chez Karthala une collection nommée « Karthala-Société des Africanistes ».

Le portrait d'une Afrique plurielle, mettant en lumière des mutations dans les modèles matrimoniaux au sein des sociétés africaines, mutations qui révèlent une véritable révolution silencieuse, annonciatrice de profondes transformations des sociétés, et tout particulièrement des rapports hommes-femmes.

International Development Planning Review is a peer-reviewed journal which provides an interdisciplinary platform for the critical study of development related practices, planning and policy.

IDPR publishes material across a broad range of topics including but not limited to:

- demographic change and urbanization
- shelter and infrastructure provision
- livelihoods and economic activities
- transport and communication networks
- governance and civil society
- urban/rural development policy and planning
- sustainability and environmental change

Contributions take the form of theoretically informed and empirically grounded papers, critical reviews, viewpoints and book reviews. One of the four issues per year may be a 'themed issue' that focuses on a topic of interest.

BOKO HARAM

Inside Nigeria's Unholy War
Mike Smith

An insurgency in Nigeria by the Islamist extremist group Boko Haram has left thousands dead, shaken Africa's biggest country and worried the world. Yet they remain a mysterious – almost unknowable – organisation. Through on-the-ground reporting, Smith provides the first in-depth account of the conflict. He traces Boko Haram from its beginnings in Nigeria's remote northeast, to its transformation into a hydra-headed monster, deploying suicide bombers and abducting schoolgirls. Told through the eyes of those who have been caught between the violence of insurgents, brutal security forces and an inept government led by an accidental president, it journeys through the corruption that has robbed Africa's biggest oil producer of its potential, making it fertile ground for extremism.

IN THE NAME OF THE PEOPLE

Angola's Forgotten Massacre
Lara Pawson

On 27th May 1977, a small demonstration against the MPLA, the ruling party of Angola, led to the slaughter of thousands, if not tens of thousands, of people. These dreadful reprisals are little talked of in Angola today – and virtually unknown outside the country. In this book, journalist Lara Pawson tracks down the story of what really happened in the aftermath of that fateful day. In a series of vivid encounters, she talks to eyewitnesses, victims and even perpetrators of the violent and confusing events of the 27th May and the following weeks and months. From London to Lisbon to Luanda, she meets those who continue to live in the shadow of the appalling events of 40 years ago and who – in most cases – have been too afraid to speak about them before.

Single tickets (1.80 euros) allow you one trip on the metro, RER, tramway or buses lines. Purchasing a book of 10 tickets allows you to save 27%.

Do not buy tickets from strangers: they might be unsuitable or faulty and cost you a fine.

Le site de la RATP (métro parisien) vous permet de trouver facilement votre itinéraire (en métro, bus ou RER) jusqu'aux lieux de la conférence : <http://www.ratp.fr/>

L'accès au métro parisien se fait en validant un ticket (1.80 euro acheté à l'unité ; 14.10 euros pour un carnet de 10 tickets (économie d'environ 27 %).

N'achetez jamais vos tickets de transport à des inconnus : ils risquent d'être défectueux ou inadaptés et peuvent vous valoir une amende.

Reception desk and Conference office opening hours/Accueil des participants et horaires

The reception of participants takes place from 8 am on July 8 at Pantheon (12, place du Panthéon). On the day of arrival, you will receive a badge holder and tote bag. To avoid unnecessary delays, we suggest you to print your badge in advance. For security reasons (Plan Vigipirate), please wear your badge at all time (even for activities outside the university, such as at Paris City Hall and Fondation Cartier pour l'art contemporain).

The premises will be open from 8 am to 9 pm.

L'accueil des participants a lieu à partir de 8h le 8 juillet au 12, place du Panthéon. Le jour de votre arrivée, une pochette et un sac vous seront remis. Pour éviter l'attente, nous vous suggérons d'imprimer votre badge à l'avance. Pour des raisons de sécurité (plan vigipirate), il est important de le conserver en permanence sur vous, même pour les activités hors de l'université (Hôtel de ville de Paris et la Fondation Cartier pour l'art contemporain).

Les locaux seront ouverts de 8h à 21h.

Lunchtime at CROUS restaurant MABILLON/Déjeuners au restaurant MABILLON du CROUS

For those who have selected the lunch option when registering on the ECAS website, a university restaurant will welcome you. The Mabillon restaurant serves various menus that will suit your dietary regime. The restaurant is located at 3 rue Mabillon, in the 6th district.

It is a 15 mn walk from conference venue, or you can go by bus (10 mn walk).

From the Sorbonne take bus 63 from station Cluny to station Église Saint-Sulpice (direction: Porte de la Muette).

From the Panthéon, take bus 86 from station Collège de France to station Église Saint-Sulpice (direction: Saint-Germain-des-Près).

Pour ceux qui ont choisi l'option déjeuners lors de l'inscription sur le site web de l'ECAS, le restaurant universitaire Mabillon vous ouvrira ses portes le midi. Il vous propose des menus très variés et adaptés à votre régime alimentaire. Il est situé au 3 rue Mabillon, dans le 6^e arrondissement.

Le trajet à pied est de 15 minutes ou de 10 minutes en bus.

Pour vous y rendre, à partir de la Sorbonne, prendre le bus 63 depuis la station Cluny jusqu'à la station Église Saint-Sulpice, (direction : Porte de la Muette).

Depuis le Panthéon, prendre le bus 86 depuis la station Collège de France jusqu'à la station Église Saint-Sulpice, (direction : Saint-Germain-des-Près).

PRACTICAL INFORMATION

Mediators for ECAS 6/ Médiateurs pour l'ECAS 6

To facilitate finding your room, organizing your travels through the city and to answer any practical questions, students are on hands at both the Sorbonne and Pantheon sites to answer any questions you may have.

Pour faciliter votre accueil, vos déplacements et répondre à toutes vos questions d'ordre pratique, des étudiants sont disponibles sur les lieux d'accès de la Sorbonne et du Panthéon.

Computer Rooms/Salles informatiques

Computer Rooms are available in the Sorbonne and Panthéon (rooms C615, C616, D627 and D628). Des salles informatiques sont disponibles côté Sorbonne et Panthéon (salles C615, C616, D627 et D628).

Wireless Internet /Internet (WIFI)

A WIFI network is available on both sites with a login and a password given upon your arrival.

Les locaux de la conférence bénéficient d'un réseau WIFI, un identifiant et un mot de passe par site (Sorbonne/Panthéon) vous sera remis à votre arrivée.

Bring your laptop/Apporter votre ordinateur

If you are presenting a paper, please note that audiovisual equipment provided by ECAS includes LCD projectors and screens. Presenters are responsible for bringing their own laptops to connect to the projector (Mac users should bring their own adapters).

Si vous présentez une communication dans le cadre d'un panel, notez que l'équipement audiovisuel fourni par ECAS comprend un projecteur un LCD et un écran. Il est de votre responsabilité d'apporter votre propre ordinateur portable pour le connecter au projecteur (les utilisateurs de Mac doivent également apporter leurs adaptateurs).

Luggage Room/Salle pour les bagages

Systematic security check will be carried out at the entrance of both sites, Sorbonne and Pantheon. To speed up your entry, it is much more convenient to come without luggage. If you do come with luggage, know that it will be searched. However, after this search, you may leave your belongings in the luggage room located at Pantheon.

Des contrôles systématiques sont effectués à l'entrée de la Sorbonne et du Panthéon. Pour faciliter votre entrée, il est beaucoup plus pratique de venir sans bagage. Si vous ne pouvez faire autrement, une fouille du bagage sera inévitable. Vous pourrez cependant, après cette fouille, déposer le bagage au vestiaire qui est situé à Panthéon.

To withdraw money/Pour retirer de l'argent

There is a cash machine at 3 rue Soufflot, between the Luxembourg Gardens and the Pantheon.

For those who have lunch at CROUS, a distributor is located at 15 rue du Four, at the corner of the university restaurant.

During all 3-Day of the conference a publishers' exhibition fair will be held. To facilitate your transactions at this event, please be sure that you have cash.

Un distributeur automatique de billets est situé 3 rue Soufflot, entre le jardin du Luxembourg et le Panthéon.

Pour ceux qui déjeunent au CROUS, un distributeur se situe 15 rue du Four, au coin de la rue du restaurant universitaire.

Un salon des éditeurs se tient pendant les 3 jours de la conférence. Des livres sont disponibles à la vente, pensez à prévoir des espèces et de la monnaie pour faciliter vos transactions.
